Court Peace Order Sought At Nashville

John Kasper Fails
To Raise $200 Fine,
Sent To Workhouse

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Federal and city officials moved today to clamp a federally enforced peace order in Nashville's integration situation similar to the one which eventually halted disorders in Clinton, Tenn.

A federal court injunction against any persons interfering with peaceful desegregation of Nashville first-graders was planned even as City Court action sent Northern segregationist John Kasper to the workhouse.

Mayor Ben West also asked U.S. Dist. Atty. Fred Elledge Jr. to ask revocation of Kasper's appeal bond in his first contempt of court conviction in the Clinton case. This would mean Kasper would go to the federal penitentiary to serve a one-year sentence imposed by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor of Knoxville.

Uneasy Peace
Meanwhile an uneasy peace already had settled on the city as hardboiled police kept all demonstrators away from the six affected grammar schools.

Officers patrolling the school desegregation front have been quick to make arrests and added 11 to their total today, as they cracked down on violence which included the midnight blasting of one grammar school Tuesday.

Kasper was sent to the workhouse after he failed to raise a $200 fine for his part in integration demonstrations here. The self-styled rabble-rouser was fined $50 on each of four city charges. They included, vagrancy, loitering, disorderly conduct and offensive conduct.

City Judge Andrew Doyle told Kasper, "If I had the authority, I would instruct police to take you by the seat of the britches and the nape of your neck and throw you out of town."

Kasper Faces State Charges
Kasper still faces state charges of inciting to riot. He is under $25,000 bond on these charges.

The disorder began Monday morning when Nashville took its first step toward desegregation under Judge Miller's orders by opening 13 schools to 126 Negro first graders. Only 15 have been enrolled in mixed classes. Ten were in school today.

In addition to the city and federal actions, the Davidson County grand jury began an investigation of Tuesday's dynamiting of the half-million-dollar Hattie Cotton school, where one Negro child was admitted Monday.

Coffee Prices Cut 2-6 Cents

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Coffee drinking became less expensive today as major roasters and some supermarket chains slashed prices from two to six cents a pound.

The third round of price cuts this year was touched off by the Maxwell House division of General Foods Corp., which lowered the wholesale price of its vacuum-packed, nationally advertised Maxwell House and Sanka coffees three cents a pound. Maxwell House also lowered its Yuban and Bliss brands two cents a pound.

Standard Brands, Inc., followed with a cut of three cents a pound for its Chase & Sanborn brand and similar action was taken by roasters of Martinson, Aborn and Ehlers vacuum-packed brands.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, the nation's largest supermarket chain, slashed prices six cents a pound on all its brands. This put the A&P bagged coffee on a scale of 73, 79 and 83 cents a pound and pegged the chain's brand of vacuum-packed coffee at 89 cents a pound. The new prices are down 16 to 20 cents in just over a year.

Opponents See Outside Chance To Beat Hoffa

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Some labor leaders said today they begin to see an outside chance to beat James R. Hoffa's drive to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters Union.

The main factors prompting the rising hopes of Hoffa's foes are the failure of the powerful Western Conference of Teamsters to endorse Hoffa and a strong possibility the Senate Rackets Committee may soon resume hearings on his activities.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the Senate Rackets Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), has personally been delving deeper into Hoffa's affairs with the help of a dozen investigators in Detroit, Hoffa's home base.

Kennedy said in Detroit last night the hunt has been "worthwhile" and has led to fresh evidence. He said Hoffa could be recalled from new hearings "in the normal course of our investigations" ahead of the election showdown at the Teamsters' convention three weeks hence. McClellan himself is returning to Washington next week.

Prior word from the committee was that it would have no further public hearings on Hoffa until after the Teamsters convention, which starts Sept. 30 at Miami Beach.

The earlier Rackets Committee hearings on Hoffa apparently shook his strong grip on the union, but to an undetermined extent. He was charged, among other things, with accepting loans from employers and consorting with racketeers. Hoffa said his dealings with New York hoodlum Johnny Dio were in the normal course of union business.

Formosa Menaced

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 12 (AP)—Typhoon Carmen, packing 115 m.p.h. winds at its center, is expected to be 180 miles southeast of Formosa early Friday morning, U.S. Air Force weather experts said today.

Chaplin Still Loves U.S. But Resents Treatment

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Charlie Chaplin said today with a weary sigh that he loves America.

"Even now," added the 68-year-old comedian, "but I do resent the way I've been treated. I don't like being kicked around."

Chaplin faced reporters' questions at a Foreign Press Assn. luncheon. He ducked a lot of them—including one about his possible return to the United States.

Chaplin's new picture—in which critics say he brings out a bitterness against America—opens here tomorrow. It's called "A King in New York." It lampoons U.S. Congressional investigations of Communism.

Some critics in previews said it is funny only in patches. The pro-Laborite Daily Mirror and the Communist Daily Workers, however, praised it.

Special Envoy Plan Endorsed By Noble

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Britain urged today that a special representative of the United Nations seek out Kremlin leaders for talks on ending "brutal repression in Hungary."

Cmdr. Allan Noble, British minister of state, told a special session of the 81-nation General Assembly it must look to Moscow "to secure some lightening of the shadow at present lying darkly over Hungary."

Noble spoke in support of a resolution sponsored by the United States, Britain and 35 other nations which would name Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, Assembly president, as the U.N.'s special representative to do what he can about persuading the Russians to comply with previous resolutions on Hungary.

There has been no indication from the Russians or Hungarians that they will heed the resolutions, which call for Soviet troops to get out of Hungary and the holding of free elections.

Members of the Soviet bloc contend—and they reiterated today—that they regard events in Hungary as an internal matter which the U. N. has no right to take up.

An American delegation spokesman expressed hope that the Assembly might reach voting stage on the 37-nation resolution by tomorrow night. But this appeared doubtful since the list of nations wanting to express views on Hungary is still long. The session opened yesterday.

U.N. "Could Not Do Better"

Noble declared the Assembly "could not do better" than to ask Prince Wan to assume the post of special representative.

"We earnestly hope that he may be able to bring about compliance with the Assembly's resolutions, to persuade the Soviet government to a realization of their international obligations and to do something to alleviate the lot of the Hungarian people," Noble said.

Baptist Pastor, Priest Heroes In Church Fire

MONT CLEMENS, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP)—A Protestant clergyman joined a Catholic priest today in saving the consecrated Host and other valuable altar furnishings from the tabernacle of a burning Catholic church.

The Rev. Wilbert Gough, pastor of the Gilbert Memorial First Baptist church here, was one of a group of volunteers who joined the Rev. Paul C. Neenan, in dashing into the burning building moments before flames toppled the 60-foot church steeple.

They removed the ciborium containing the Eucharist from the church altar along with altar furnishings.

"I'm only sorry I could not have done more," the Rev. Gough said. "Our churches are neighbors and I just happened to be there."

Father Neenan estimated fire damage at $300,000.

CWU Walkout Over Wages Set Monday

Picketing Planned
To Keep Operators
From Their Jobs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Communications Workers Union today called a nationwide strike of telephone workers for Monday morning. The union said 200,000 persons would stay off their jobs.

The Communications Workers of America said 54,000 of its members who make and install telephone equipment voted overwhelmingly to walk out in a dispute over wages and the length of a new contract.

Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, said picketing of exchanges in major cities would keep about 146,000 other workers, including operators, from their jobs.

Beirne expressed hope the walk-out could be averted through negotiations before the Monday deadline.

Strike Set For 6 A. M.

The threatened strike, against telephone companies affiliated with the Bell System, was scheduled for 6 a.m., local time, Monday in all states except Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

It was expected a strike would have little immediate effect on local telephone service in communities with dial systems, except in event of equipment breakdown. A strike probably would cripple long distance phoning, however.

Beirne said contracts between seven CWA units and companies affiliated with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., have expired after more than two months of bargaining.

11½-Cent Boost Sought

In the absence of a new wage agreement, telephone employees in Ohio and a number of Western states walked off their jobs this morning.

Beirne said the AT&T affiliates have offered wage increases averaging 9 cents an hour. He said the union wants an average boost of 11½ cents.

Another major issue, he said, involves company demands for three-year contracts, with provisions for renegotiation of wage rates in the second and third years. The union has insisted on one-year contracts.

WE Employees Affected

Beirne said the strike would affect some 23,000 Western Electric Co. employees who install telephone equipment around the country. These employees of the AT&T manufacturing affiliate move about from job to job.

In addition, he said, union members would strike against Western Electric plants at Duluth, Minn., Lincoln, Nebraska, and New York City, and against the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York.

Almost the entire work force of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., including operators and linemen, also would leave their jobs, Beirne said.

Car And $20,000 In Jewelry Stolen

NEENAH, Wis., Sept. 11 (AP)—A car containing $20,000 worth of rings and other gems was reported stolen today while its owner was inside a drug store getting change for a parking meter.

Police put out an all-points alarm for the car and its occupant, described as a well-dressed man in his 30s, about 5 feet 10 and weighing 175 pounds.

The auto was found shortly afterward, abandoned on a Neenan street, but the trunk was open and the jewelry missing.

T. E. Thorsen, 64, Cable, Wis., a manufacturer's agent for H. Hailparr Co., of New York, said he locked the ignition of his 1956 model car, but the thief started the motor up without trouble and sped away before he could stop him.

300 Believed Dead In Turkish Floods

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 11 (AP)—Floods smashed through seven villages outside this capital today and officials reported the death toll may be more than 300.

Bursting down the barren Anatolian hillsides after torrential afternoon rains, walls of water crushed about 1,000 houses and killed countless animals.

Rescue workers and police coming into the capital for additional help said it appeared the toll would mount higher than 300.

Tears Flow In Nashville Court

G. H. Akins sobs in City Court at Nashville where he was fined $50 yesterday for his part in recent integration disturbances. Akins was one of 39 persons arrested so far in Nashville's racial violence around newly-integrated elementary school which was ripped by a pre-dawn dynamite explosion Tuesday.

Lebanon Fears Israel Might Attack Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Sept. 11 (AP)—Lebanon, one of Syria's pro-West neighbors, expressed the fear today Israel would take advantage of the current Middle East crisis and attack Syria.

Official sources said President Camille Chamoun has relayed his government's concern to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain, and Turkey and warned that an attack by Israel would bring the entire Arab bloc to Syria's support. Chamoun conferred with the three ambassadors after reports from Moscow said Turkey and Israel were preparing an attack against Syria.

In Damascus, reliable sources reported that Syria has reactivated its public resistance organization for mobilizing "public forces" and training civilians in the use of arms.

Syrian officials and the press continued a war of words against the West, repeating charges the United States was plotting to destroy the country's independence.

A new, sharp Soviet warning to Turkey and the West was applauded in all quarters of the Syrian government today. The warning came in a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow last night. He accused Turkey of massing troops on the Syrian frontier.

Beirut sources scoffed at this claim but said the Arabs are suspicious Israel might find in Western antagonism toward Syria a chance to renew hostilities.

The West has expressed concern that Syria is slipping into the Soviet orbit because Leftist officers took over the Syrian army last month. Syrian trade and aid pacts with the Soviet Union added to this concern.

But in Washington, Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday he believes the Syria crisis will be settled without war.

ICBM Years Away, Montgomery Says

NOTTINGHAM, England, Sept. 11 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery said today at least 10 years will pass before Russia or any other country perfects an Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile.

"The Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile will come," Montgomery told industrialists at a luncheon here. He is NATO's deputy supreme commander.

"Today it is only in the experimental stage and it will be many years—I would say at least 10 years—before it is brought to perfection and any nation has it in quantity."

Cop Suspended For Drag Racing

LEBANON, Ind., Sept. 11 (AP)—The Safety Board yesterday suspended policeman Joe Cozzy for 60 days without pay for conduct unbecoming an officer. One of the charges: He drove a patrol car in a drag race with a taxicab on a city street.

Fire Breaks Out In New Refinery At Yorktown, Va.

YORKTOWN, Va., Sept. 11 (AP)—Fire erupted in the new multi-million dollar American Oil Co. oil refinery here today. Columns of black smoke were visible for miles.

First reports were that the blaze was touched off in the transfer pump-house by a welder's torch.

Plant Manager Mark Hopkins said, "Damage is serious but we do not know the extent yet."

The refinery's firefighting forces and firemen from the Naval Mine Warfare School at Yorktown were quickly mobilized in an effort to prevent spread of the blaze, which erupted in the heart of the refinery.

Four men were reported burned and another suffered lesser injuries.

Carrie Loiters In Open Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 11 (AP)—Hurricane Carrie loitered in the open Atlantic Ocean about 920 miles east northeast of Puerto Rico tonight and forecasters said there was "only a very slight chance" Florida would be affected.

At 5 p.m. EST the season's third hurricane was located at latitude 20.8 north, longitude 52.6 west, which is approximately 1,900 miles east and slightly south of Miami.

"The hurricane is stationary and its intensity has remained the same during the day," the Weather Bureau said in its advisory at that time.

"The lowest pressure reported by aircraft reconnaissance in the center this afternoon was 28.88 inches. During the next 12 hours the hurricane will remain nearly stationary or drift slowly northward."

Highest winds were estimated about 90 miles an hour over a small area near the center and gales extend outward 100 miles in the northern semicircle and 65 miles in the southern semicircle.

Appeals Court Reverses Conviction Of Five Reds

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 11 (AP)—The conviction of five Communist leaders by a federal jury here under the Smith Act in March 1956, today was reversed in a 2-1 decision by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Circuit Court Judge Charles E. Clark and Sterry Waterman held that "no direct evidence" had been introduced by the government to prove the defendants "in criminal speech" advocated the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

The judges ruled, "There is no direct evidence of a single example of such advocacy despite ample opportunity for observation by FBI agents with access to the conspirators' innermost councils."

They held that the government hadn't proven its case.

Immigration Bill Inked, Program Director Named

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The State Department acted quickly today to carry out the terms of new immigration legislation signed by President Eisenhower but criticized by him as inadequate.

Robert C. McCollum, who has been handling the government's refugee program, was appointed to oversee the entry of more than 60,000 immigrants under the new law.

The department also announced U.S. consular offices around the world are prepared to start at once on the big job of issuing entry visas.

These are expected to include 4,000 orphans adopted by American citizens, 14,556 refugees from Iron Curtain countries and 36,000 persons who will be granted special nonquota status.

Eisenhower said the measure makes improvements in present practices but he added: "This measure . . . is a disappointment in that it fails to deal with many of the serious inequities inherent in the Immigration and Nationality Act."

The President expressed regret that no provision was made for making citizenship available to "thousands of brave and worthy Hungarian refugees" now in this country.

He also criticized the bill for failing to establish a long-term policy for the admission of refugees, for clinging to the 1920 census as the basis for country-by-country quotas — Eisenhower had recommended that quotas be based on the 1950 population—and for failing to provide for the distribution of unused quota visas.

First Autos Cross Mackinac Bridge

ST. IGNACE, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP)—Traffic has started crossing the Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

A Grand Rapids woman was the first of her sex to cross it by vehicle. The first man to drive across was Gordon Dallas, assistant resident engineer for the bridge's designer, D. B. Steinman of New York.

The 8,000-plus feet of suspension span links Michigan's peninsulas.

The bridge is not scheduled to open until Nov. 1 and officials emphasize it is not yet open to public travel.

Conference Is Requested By Governor

Attempt To Break
School Deadlock
Set This Weekend

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower swiftly accepted today a proposal by Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus that they counsel together in an effort to break the federal-state deadlock over school integration in Little Rock, Ark.

The dramatic face-to-face meeting will take place at the naval station here Friday or Saturday. It may go a long way toward deciding the future of public school segregation in the South, an issue that has roused bitter feelings and led to outbreaks of violence in some localities.

Faubus asked for the meeting in a telegram which White House press secretary James C. Hagerty read to the President as Eisenhower finished playing the first hole at the Newport Country Club golf course.

Faubus Wire Conciliatory

The chief executive immediately dictated his acceptance telegram. Hagerty then raced back by car to the temporary White House and released both messages to the press.

Faubus' telegram was conciliatory in tone and indicated a willingness to seek some way out of the Little Rock impasse in which he has called out National Guard troops to block integration. A federal judge has ordered him to show why they should not be removed.

The issue involves Little Rock's Central High School, at which U.S. District Judge Ronald Davies has ordered mixing of white and Negro pupils to begin at once.

While Faubus spoke of a desire to obey the court order he said, too, it is a citizen's duty to carry out proper orders of a court—without indicating whether he felt the one involving him to be a proper one.

Move Initiated By Governor

He said also his compliance would be "consistent with my responsibilities" under federal and state constitutions. He has held in the past that calling out troops to stop integration was his constitutional duty to preserve law and order.

Hagerty said the proposal for a personal meeting originated with Faubus. He denied reports the White House previously had been in touch with the Arkansas governor.

The Eisenhower-Faubus meeting was announced soon after the President met with Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who gave him an optimistic report on the farm situation and said later that farm unrest was only a minor factor in the Republicans' recent loss of a Senate seat in Wisconsin.

Syrian Chiefs, Nasser Confer

CAIRO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Syria's pro-Soviet army chiefs arrived dramatically in Cairo today and plunged into talks with Egypt's President Nasser and military leaders.

Their series of urgent conferences apparently centered on joint measures to cope with the Syrian crisis.

The two strong men of the Syrian army, Brig. Afif Bizry and Lt. Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, arrived here in the midst of widespread speculation in the Mideast that Israel might launch a so-called preventive attack on Syria.

Bizry is commander in chief of the Syrian army. Serraj is the Syrian Intelligence chief.

Egypt and Syria set up a joint military command last year.

It appeared clear the Syrians are getting ready to invoke that agreement in case of an attack by pro-Western neighbors, following Nasser's unconditional pledge this week that Egypt will support Syria "to the very end."

Strike Of Teachers In Its Second Week

10,000 Children Get Extended Vacation

PAWTUCKET, R.I., Sept. 11 (AP)—A strike of more than 400 teachers in the 17 public schools of this industrial city of 85,000 started its second week today with no immediate prospect of settlement of a salary dispute.

Approximately 10,000 children are affected. Practically all of them are enjoying an extended summer vacation.

The teachers, members of the Pawtucket Teachers Alliance, stayed away from their classrooms last Wednesday — opening day of school — after failing to agree with the school board on salary terms.

Representatives of the alliance and the school committee have met several times since then without reaching a solution. The present maximum salary is $5,400. The teachers, in their latest proposal, asked an immediate increase of $600. The school board's final offer was a boost to $5,675.

The city brought a petition to Superior Court in Providence asking a temporary injunction to compel the teachers to return to work.

At the outset of the strike approximately 5,000 pupils reported for classes. They were kept about an hour, then dismissed. Each day the schools open as usual, and those who report stay about long enough to have heads counted and then are dismissed.

As the strike continued fewer children reported, until it was down to about 600 today.

The teachers have set up picket lines at some of the schools. Today they were out in greater numbers.

Confidential's Defense Raps Film Industry

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11 (AP)—The defense in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial said today the motion picture industry protects its members who have "brought disgrace upon Hollywood."

Atty. Arthur J. Crowley made the accusation as he opened his final argument for acquittal to the jury.

Prosecutor William L. Ritz had just completed his statement to the jury with the charge that Confidential was the "self-appointed purveyor of smut and dirt in the United States."

Confidential and Whisper magazines and their Hollywood agents, Fred and Marjorie Meade, are charged with conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to publish lewd and obscene matter. The indictments against them are based on scandalous stories about movie stars and other celebrities.

"I practice law in Hollywood, and I am proud of Hollywood," Crowley told the jury. "It is unfortunate that a segment of movie people have brought disgrace upon Hollywood."

"But unlike the federal government that weeds out homosexuals and other undesirables, the motion picture industry goes to great lengths to protect them."

Crowley called the trial of the magazines "one of the worst cases of suppression of freedom of the press that I have ever seen."

Rep. Hyde will address the conference on the subject "Regional Approach to Local Problems." More than 400 members and guests of the association are expected to attend.

Flu Vaccine Production For Public Use Begins

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Pitman-Moore Co. and Eli Lilly & Co. announced today they expect to make their first shipments of Asian flu vaccine for public use next week.

Pitman-Moore completed its military contract for the vaccine with a shipment of 209,000 doses today and turned to production for civilian use.

A Lilly spokesman said his firm's production should build up to a peak in October.

Missiles Boss Poses Interest Conflict Case

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower's selection of Dr. Paul Darwin Foote, 69-year-old retired oil executive and physicist, to boss missile and other scientific programs in the Pentagon, may force a new Senate test on conflicts of interest.

Foote began work in the key defense post yesterday even though the Senate Armed Services Committee failed to act on his nomination last month as assistant secretary of defense for research and engineering.

He told senators he planned to retain his pension as a retired vice president of the Gulf Oil Co. and could not afford to sell off his holdings in that company or in Standard Oil Co. of California.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) told newsmen this raised issues as to policies on conflicts of interest and Congress adjourned before the committee reached a decision.

The Armed Services Committee has insisted in most cases that prospective federal officials give up holdings or interests in corporations that benefit from government contracts.

Foote now is serving under what is known as a recess appointment. That is, he was installed by Eisenhower after Congress adjourned.

Recess appointees continue to draw pay until 30 days after the next congressional session begins. And if a new appointment is sent up for confirmation, pay continues until the Senate has approved or rejected the nomination.

Foote receives $20,000 a year as an assistant secretary of defense.

Foote told the committee he was willing to dispose of his stocks in Philco Manufacturing and American Airlines, if confirmed. He said he also was willing to sell stocks in meat distributing companies that sell the armed services several million dollars worth of meat annually.

But he said his oil stock represents his life savings and "I simply cannot dispose of it."

GI Pleads Innocent Of Shooting Charges

FERNDAL, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—A 22-year-old soldier from Fort Monroe, Va., has pleaded innocent to a charge of shooting with attempt to kill a Washington, D.C. cab driver.

But the soldier, Leo Paul Mayer, pleaded guilty to a separate charge of armed robbery of the driver.

The cab driver, 43-year-old Frank Muscolino, said Mayer hailed his cab in Washington last Thursday night and asked to be driven to Glen Burnie, near here. When they arrived, Muscolino said, Mayer pulled out a pistol and demanded his money.

The cab driver said he handed over $3 and some change but the soldier became dissatisfied and fired a shot. Muscolino said Mayer fired a second shot at him as he jumped from the cab and ran.

Mayer entered pleas to the two charges at a preliminary hearing here last night.

Gomulka And Tito Agree On Agenda

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 11 (AP)—Polish Communist Chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and President Tito of Yugoslavia opened top-level talks today and quickly agreed on an agenda.

The only two Communist bloc leaders who have successfully defied Moscow issued a communique saying their talks "were conducted in an atmosphere of cordiality and full mutual understanding."

"Questions were determined on which the delegations will exchange opinions on furthering all-sided friendly cooperation between the two countries," the communique said.

Jellyfish Invasion

HASTINGS, England, Sept. 11 (AP)—An invasion of Portuguese men o' war—a type of jellyfish with a sting that can kill—raised a scare at British seaside resorts along the English Channel today.

Bathers were ordered out of the water as municipal officers scoured the beaches for the poisonous fish.

The average American will consume his weight in food in about 50 days.

Pope Calls For Radio And TV Watchdog Groups

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Pope is urging Roman Catholic bishops throughout the world to expand the work of the Legion of Decency to radio and television.

The Legion of Decency rates motion pictures according to their moral and religious content after they have been released to the public. Catholics are warned against seeing movies disapproved by the group.

In an encyclical letter dated Sept. 8 and made public today, the Pope called on his bishops to set up national offices aimed at encouraging decent radio and TV programs as well as motion pictures.

He said that these "remarkable inventions" should be used to improve men spiritually and materially and bring them closer together.

Warning of the dangers of their immoral use, the 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church declared that motion pictures, radio and television should be dedicated to the service of truth and virtue.

"Let them," he said, "be at the service of truth in such a way that

Meany Favors Union Ouster If Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—George Meany said today that if ouster of some unions is necessary to clean corruption from the AFL-CIO, then he favors their expulsion.

Meany, AFL-CIO president, spoke at dedication of a new $385,000 headquarters here of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employees of America, a 150,000-member union.

Meany said labor unions dominated by gangsters or hoodlums are just as ineffective for their worker-members as unions dominated by the government, by employers or by Communists.

Arlington Desegregation Hearing Set For Today

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 11 (AP)—A federal judge today heard testimony and then set tomorrow for argument on a move to have seven Arlington Negroes admitted to white schools.

Judge Albert V. Bryan of U.S. District Court earlier denied motions by state and county counsel designed to delay the hearing of the case. He also denied a number of other motions.

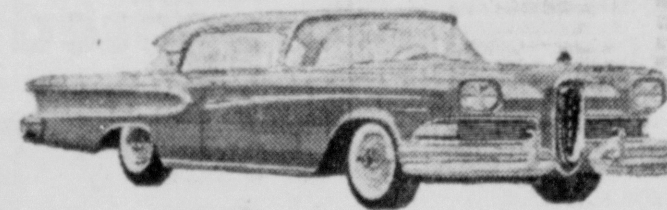

The motions were offered by James Simmonds, attorney for Arlington, and were supported in arguments by Simmonds and former Atty. Gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., Democratic candidate for governor of Virginia.

The motions included pleas to delay the hearing, to dissolve the previous injunction by Bryan against pupil assignment on the basis of race and color alone, to dismiss the present case, and to set aside an order allowing four of the Negroes to intervene as plaintiffs.

Testimony from parents of the Negro pupils and from Arlington County school officials dealt with the use or lack of use of forms under Virginia's Pupil-Placement Act.

This law, which is being brought to a direct court test in this case, requires the signing of a form by the parents of any pupil seeking to transfer from one school to another or who is entering school for the first time.

DREDGE SUNK BY COLLISION — Above is an aerial view of the Army Engineers dredge Rossell which was sunk late Tuesday by collision with the Norwegian freighter Thorshall at the mouth of Coos Bay (Ore.) channel. Three men aboard the Rossell were killed and a fourth is missing. Remainder of the 51 crewmen were rescued by a helicopter piloted by Wesley Lematta of Portland, Ore. Apparent cause of the accident was failure of steering gear on the Thorshall as it passed the dredge. (AP Photofax)

Economic Growth Rate Stable In East Europe, Shows Drop In West Europe

GENEVA, Sept. 11 (AP) — Growth in the metal-using industries has risen less than in industry as a whole.

Consumer expenditure seems to be of increased importance in maintaining total demand," the bulletin stated. "Wages have risen a little faster in the last 12-month period, but without any clearcut connection with demand and supply on the labor market."

The report said "the considerable gains of gold and foreign exchange by West Germany threaten to upset western Europe's international trade."

In addition, it noted a loss of European gold and dollars to the United States, a trend due to very high imports by European nations.

The bulletin said the present rate of European exports to the United States was too small to prevent deterioration if imports continue to increase at the present rate.

Prospects in the trade situation, it concluded, tend to confirm the expectation "of a continuing trend towards a leveling off of economic activity, which may be strengthened by similar tendencies in the American economy and the widespread weakness of international commodity markets."

In eastern Europe, Hungary told of continued recovery of industrial output, but the production level appears still to be 16 per cent below that in the last quarter before the anti-Communist revolt.

Elsewhere in eastern Europe, a mild winter helped ease the fuel supply situation and to make possible an over-all production level exceeding the planned targets in most countries, the report said.

In western Europe, the bulletin noted there has been an apparent shift from housing projects to industrial building and the output

Windows Smashed In Desegregated Deale Classroom

Building's Owner Threatened By Phone

DEALE, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—A Negro physician and his wife said today they will continue to send their 6-year-old son to a newly desegregated schoolroom where bricks were tossed through the windows last night.

The two front windows were smashed in a former store serving as a first grade classroom in this Anne Arundel County community about 15 miles south of Annapolis.

Also broken out were the two front windows of the adjoining office of Ruby Downs, a Deale real estate agent.

Downs, who owns the building in which the classroom and his office are located, said he was warned by telephone Saturday that he would "be sorry. . . if you don't get that black boy out of your building."

The only Negro among the 26 pupils using the classroom is Harry Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry N. Jones.

Mrs. Jones said a committee of three women and two men called on her and her husband today and asked them to remove their son from the school.

She said the committee told her husband their visit was the result of a meeting held in the area yesterday.

Mrs. Jones said her husband referred them to the Anne Arundel County Board of Education.

Downs, a retired Washington police sergeant, said he also referred his caller to the school board. He said he recognized the voice on the telephone but refused to identify it to newsmen.

Downs said the caller told him: "I'm giving you a tip. If you don't get that black boy out of your building at once, I wouldn't give you a damn nickel for the building."

Downs said he explained that he rented the building as an annex to the Deale School in October, 1956, when there were no Negroes enrolled. He said an agreement made with the school board at that time gave him no choice but to rent the building as a classroom again this year.

The real estate man quoted his caller as saying:

"Just let me tell you the feeling is running very high down here. Do as you're told or you'll be sorry. Lock the door so they can't get in or tear down the building. You have plenty of money and don't need the building anyway. . . ."

Downs estimated damage to the windows at $360 and said lettering on the windows of his real estate office cost an additional $65.

Capt. George Wellham, chief of county detectives, said his men took fingerprints from bricks thrown through the windows and made a thorough investigation in to the incident, but he said he does not expect an immediate arrest.

Wellham said he had received no request to have police officers at the school tomorrow and does not plan to assign any there. "We hope there won't be any more trouble," he said.

Girl Pleads Innocent In Brush With Cops

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Shirley Anne Dickel, 17-year-old Lancaster, Pa., girl whose attempt to leave home led her to Baltimore and a wild police chase today pleaded innocent to five charges of trying to assault police officers.

She was arraigned in Youth Court before Judge James K. Cullen who deferred further proceedings pending a psychiatric examination of the girl.

She is charged on five counts of trying to run down policemen with her automobile.

A hearing on seven traffic charges has been postponed until Oct. 9 and the girl also faces three traffic charges in Baltimore County where she has posted $140 collateral. No date has been set for a hearing there.

Her run-in with Maryland law enforcement officers occurred Aug. 16.

Brice House Will Be Opened To Visitors

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Brice House, regarded as a masterpiece of Georgian architecture, will be open to visitors for the first time in many years during Heritage Week in Annapolis.

Heritage Week sponsored by Historic Annapolis Inc. will be held Oct. 12-19.

William Graves Perry, chief architect of the Colonial Williamsburg and Tryon Palace restorations, has called the Brice House "the most beautiful home in the United States."

The United States grows more than 70 per cent of the world's corn crop.

Pair Arrested As Bullets Halt 80 MPH Chase

PARKTON, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—Two Pennsylvanians were arrested early today on charges of transporting materials to set up a still after a bullet-punctuated police chase.

Baltimore County Police identified the two men as John R. (Bob) Joines, 42, and his 19-year-old nephew, Ralph Joines, both of Stewartstown, Pa.

Another nephew of the older Joines, John Paul Joines, 23, is awaiting Federal Grand Jury action on a charge of operating a still seized by federal agents Sept. 1.

Four bullets hit the car John Joines was in. One went through the back window and the last hit a tire which halted the 80-mile-an-hour chase. In addition to State moonshine charges, the elder Joines was charged with exceeding 70 m.p.h., reckless driving and failing to obey an officer.

Police said they began firing at the car when it sped away while they were inspecting it. They had become curious after finding the auto parked on the Middleton Road.

Police said Ralph was in a parked truck while the chase was under way. In the truck they found ten 60-pound bags of sugar and other material which officers said would be useful in setting up a still.

West Va. Rains Come Too Late

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 11 (AP)—General rain reported throughout West Virginia early this week failed to bring much relief from drought conditions plaguing farmers and the state's woodlands.

Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said today his department recorded about one-fourth to one-half inch of rainfall, which he explained came too late to help most of the corn crop.

The commissioner said the rainfall would benefit a portion of the state's apple crop and aid new seedlings. However, he commented that it is doubtful fall meadows and pastures will be revived.

Adding that southern counties have had the most rain during the dry summer, Johnson said the effect of the drought would not be fully known until next spring.

The commissioner said an anticipated good apple crop is now expected to be down 1,000 bushels, although he said Moorefield and other sections of Hardy county received a considerable amount of rainfall early this week.

Johnson said parts of Jackson, Preston, Putnam, Mason, and Harrison counties probably were the heaviest hit locations in what he termed an unusually "spotty" drought.

Montgomery County Attorney Succumbs

BETHESDA, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—Charles Corcoran Jones, 58, an attorney who was active for many years in Montgomery County, Md. affairs, died in suburban hospital here today. He had undergone an operation.

Jones, who lived in Kensington, had practiced law in Rockville for 30 years. He was on the board of the Montgomery County Mutual Building & Loan Assn., Kensington, and a director of the Farmers Banking & Trust Co., Rockville.

He was the owner of a string of race horses and was one of the principal land owners of Montgomery County. Most of his horse-breeding operations were conducted on two farms near Poolesville.

He was elected to the Maryland General Assembly in 1938, the fourth member of his family to represent Montgomery County at Annapolis. His great-grandfather, Thomas Y. Conley, and a great-uncle, Somerset O. Jones, also had served in the House. His father, Dr. Eugene Jones, served at one time in the State Senate. His mother was the former Clara Conley.

He was a bachelor. Services will be held at the home, 10308 Montgomery Ave., Kensington, Friday.

Weather Right For Mosquitoes

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Sept. 11 (AP)—Mosquitoes by the thousands have Dorchester countians swatting and slapping these days and apparently they aren't about to leave.

Residents say they can't remember when the pestiferous insects were so plentiful.

There's a reason, according to Harry W. Beggs, county agricultural agent. Wet, cloudy and humid weather the past week has caused mosquito eggs to hatch all at one time, Beggs said. Even eggs laid over a period of several weeks wait to hatch when weather conditions are just right and they have been recently.

What's more, Beggs said, the prevailing winds have carried the mosquitoes over the county from the southern swamps where they lay their eggs.

Television Show Today Will Pay Homage To Late H. L. Mencken

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Henry L. Mencken would have snorted, jammed a Havana import in his mouth and punched out a tirade on the senselessness of paying homage to a heathen who no longer is in a position to pay taxes.

But a half-hour television show (WMAR-TV) honoring the late Mencken at 5:30 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow, will be the sort of thing the caustic critic secretly would have prized for all time.

Alistair Cooke, the Americanized Britisher who knew Mencken as a contemporary, has prepared the script and will direct the presentation.

The occasion will be the dedication of a memorial plaque by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. One plaque will be mounted in the lobby of the Baltimore Sun, which Mencken served so long. An identical plaque will be placed in the Mencken home when the row house at 1524 Hollins St. is turned over to the National Trust after the death of Mencken's life-long companion and brother, August Mencken.

Marquis Childs, syndicate columnist and chairman of the fraternity's historic sites committee, will make the formal presentation. "We'll get it over with in a few seconds," Childs said. "In other words, we don't want this to be a funeral oration sort of thing. We're going to try to recreate a little of Mencken himself, follow him from the time he was a boy of eight until the end of his active career and, whenever possible, the words will be his."

Mercken would have been 77 tomorrow. He died Jan. 29, 1956. The inscription on the plaque will be simple. After his name, the years he lived and the words, "Newspaperman, author, editor, critic, philologist," the plaque will carry the epitaph Mencken wrote on a cold December day in 1951: "If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have thought to please my ghost, for the years he lived and the words, give some sinner and wink your eyes at some homely girl."

Little Filipino Wins Long Fight For U.S. Citizenship

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—It was a great day in the life of Felix E. Dayrit. He finally won his wars for, and against, the mighty U.S. government.

In District Court yesterday, after a struggle that goes back 14 years, Dayrit was sworn in as this country's newest citizen.

Offhand, Dayrit doesn't look much like the type to win as long and as involved a fight as this one. He's a native Filipino, barely 5 feet 1, a man who makes his living at sea as an engine wiper.

But he won out against odds that might even have staggered some of the Pilgrim Fathers.

The story begins on Oct. 18, 1943 in Melbourne, Australia, when Dayrit, then 29, enlisted in a U.S. Army eager for every recruit it could get.

Dayrit was a carpenter utility man, and apparently he served with distinction for he wound up with a batch of medals and citations. He was honorably discharged on Feb. 26, 1946, and came to this country as a merchant seaman.

The ship put in at Boston, where Dayrit applied for citizenship. But he was soon at sea again, and New York became his home port. What with one thing and another, he never got the letter from the immigration people telling him he should come up to their place, with two credible witnesses, on Nov. 1, 1946.

So even though he had served in the Army, time ran out for Felix E. Dayrit.

Soon he was up to his ears in legal technicalities, and before you could say, "On to Bataan!" he was threatened with deportation. Once he was put under arrest for illegal entry.

Everyone seemed to agree his cause was just, but the law is the law, you know.

Fortunately, Cornelio O. Lopez, a lawyer here who also was born in the Philippines, became interested in Dayrit, and took his case without a fee.

He turned to the court of last resort: Congress.

Each session, in addition to worrying about such better advertised bills as civil rights and federal aid to education, Congress worries over private bills that deal with individuals.

The names of those who need, or think they need, help give a hint to the problems they have: Ciro Motti, Isaias Antoine Elias Khoury, Shee-go Chin and, of course, Felix E. Dayrit.

Lopez failed to get a bill through the 84th Congress—that failure accounted for many of Dayrit's difficulties—but he tried again this year and succeeded.

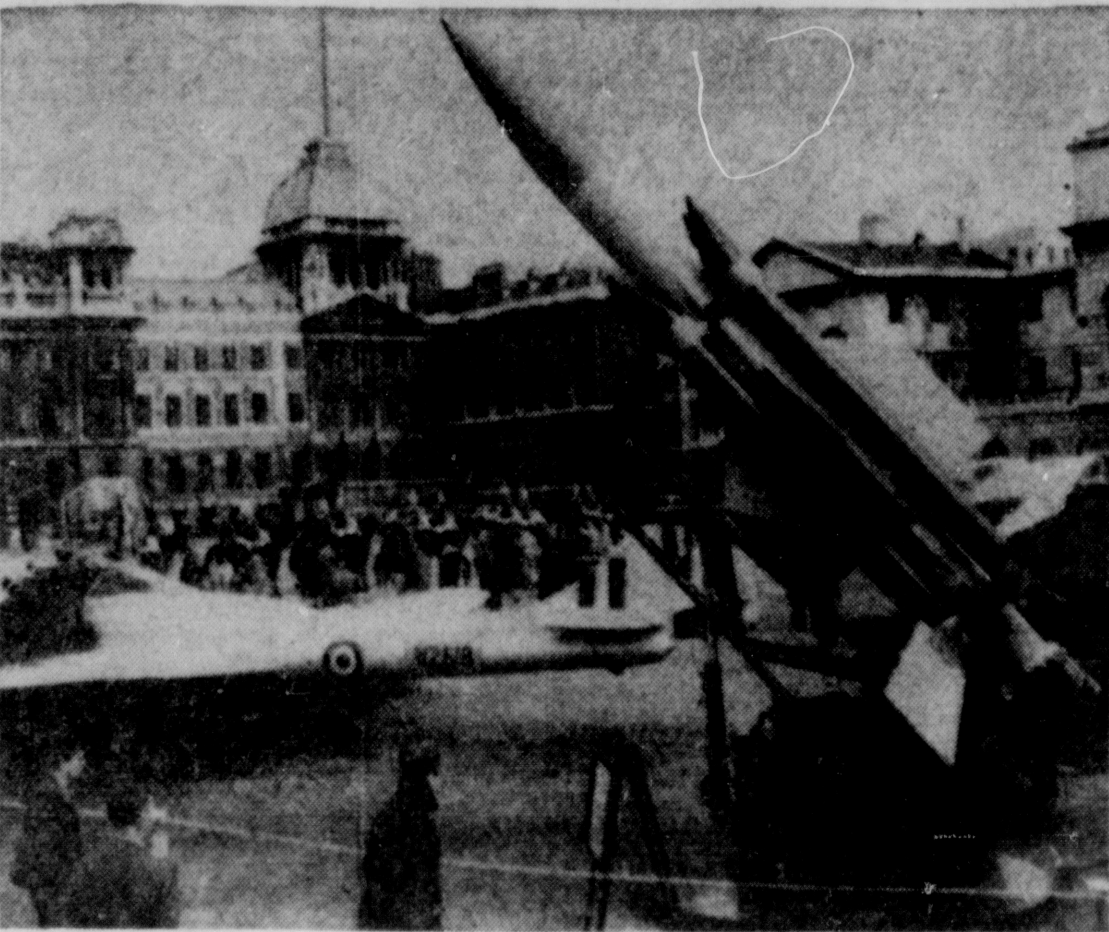

Nobody paid much attention, except Dayrit and Lopez, but on July 17 Old Soldier Eisenhower signed a bill that said it was okay for Old Soldier Dayrit to be one of us.

And yesterday was the day. Dayrit clutched in one hand a quote from Abraham Lincoln plus a few hints for new citizens, and in the other hand he had a scroll he suspected was a copy of the Declaration of Independence.

New citizen Dayrit looked pleased. It was a long fight, but he had won it.

U.N. Envoy Idea Is New Concept In World Affairs

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

The United Nations, having achieved considerable success by sending an ambassador to Israel and Egypt during the Suez crisis, is now considering a similar attempt in behalf of Hungary.

This formula for direct diplomatic negotiations in behalf of the U.N., instead of leaving them to be conducted by individual nations which may have special interests, represents a new concept in international affairs which may be far-reaching.

Russia has proved herself sensitive to world opinion on several occasions, though she has been amenable in few. She bowed in the case of Iran, but never when she considered a vital interest affected. She considers Hungary vital both as a military and political buffer.

Russia is making a great play for the support of nations which are not committed or not directly involved in the cold war. If these countries show themselves sufficiently aroused, the Russians, will not leave Hungary, but they might ameliorate conditions.

The Hungarian people under their puppet regime are in much the same position as a woman being beaten by her husband. The world watching through the windows would like to intervene. But how?

The U. N. ambassador idea is one way, plus the general expression of public opinion which this special session of the General Assembly will bring out.

There is talk at the U. N., but no concrete movement, for some direct follow-up on the investigating committee report. A part of this report, and of the United States presentation of the case on opening day, holds that the Kadar government of Hungary is not only nonrepresentative but illegal.

That opens the door for Assembly refusal to accept the credentials of the Hungarian delegation when the regular session opens.

This would be a slap at the Communists, but it would in one way be an evasion since it is Russia, not the Kadar regime, which is primarily responsible for the reign of terror in Hungary.

The general attitude at the U. N. has been that it is better to keep contact under almost any circumstances.

For instance, Foreign Minister Horvath of Hungary is expected for the General Assembly's regular session. He can learn a very great deal about free world attitudes during such an experience which might never be conveyed to him otherwise.

Judge Who Ordered Little Rock School Integration Called "Human Dynamo"

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 11 (AP)—Friends of federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, who ordered racial integration in Little Rock, Ark., Central High School, sometimes call him a "human dynamo."

To his wife and five children, the stubby, 5-foot-1 jurist is a "big man around the house."

Lawyers who know the 52-year-old judge say he is a rapid-fire conversationalist, but slow and deliberate on the bench.

"Trying to influence him with non-legal methods is like stirring up a hornet's nest," said one.

"He's a real family man who can talk to children on their level," Mrs. Davies said of her husband, who is filling a temporary vacancy at Little Rock.

Not the type to putter around the house and yard, Judge Davies prefers to spend his free time with the children or reading and listening to records—especially folk music.

"He has a passion for bridge and will stay up all night if the others are willing to go on playing," Mrs. Davies said. The judge will be "very disappointed" if he must miss the wedding of a son and daughter this month.

Judge Davies held only minor elective offices during his career. In 1932 he managed the campaign of Sen. William Langer (R-ND) in Langer's successful bid for governor of North Dakota.

The two had a falling out later and Langer once referred to Davies as "Little Sir Echo." The rift later healed and Davies had the support of Langer for his appointment to the federal bench.

Davies was born in Crookston, Minn., and received his early education at Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D. He was graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1927 and received his law degree from Georgetown University in Washington three years later.

He practiced law in Grand Forks from 1930 until his federal judge appointment in August 1955. He entered the Army as a first lieutenant in 1942 and reached the rank of lieutenant colonel before leaving the service in 1946.

Cooper Voices Tax Relief Hope

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Hope for individual income tax relief next year was voiced yesterday by Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which initiates tax legislation.

Cooper placed unusual emphasis on the "heavy burden" of taxes now being borne by taxpayers in a lengthy statement elaborating on tax hearings scheduled to open before his committee Jan. 1.

"It is my hope that some relief from these burdens can be achieved next year as a result of our hearings and study," he said.

As the chief tax spokesman for House Democrats, Cooper's statement pointed strongly toward a renewed determination by Democratic leaders to bring out a tax relief bill at the next session of Congress.

In his statement, Cooper said the committee will look into "basic policies underlying our tax laws" in a study of what he indicated were discriminatory provisions in the law affecting the small taxpayer.

Virginian Claims Method Enables Blind To "See"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The claims of a Virginia man that he has a method which may enable the blind to see drew a skeptical reaction today from the Blinded Veterans Assn.

Declaring that such claims were made by William Foos of Elverston, Va., the association said it would remain unconvinced unless Foos can "conduct experiments with totally blind persons under unimpeachable, controlled scientific supervision."

It said all of Foos' demonstrations have been conducted with a daughter who has normal vision but was blindfolded during the tests.

The association said demonstrations by Foos were attended by two totally blind staff officials of the organization, Executive Director Irving P. Schloss and Dr. William W. Thompson, national service director.

Civic Attitudes Termed Vital In Industry Drives

The extent to which a community "puts its best foot forward" is becoming an increasingly important factor considered by industrial prospects, according to the industrial promotion director of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking to the Rotary Club at Central YMCA Tuesday, Thomas W. Morris declared that industrialists select the place "where there is evidence of community spirit and pride and of a readiness to welcome and to cooperate with the newcomer."

Mr. Morris pointed to various signs which indicate, to the industrial prospect, the attitude of the community. Among these are:

(1) The attitude of government, as expressed in tax and debt policies, in providing community services and in its relations with existing industry.

(2) The attitude of citizens as expressed in providing good schools, churches and hospitals and in supporting charitable causes.

(3) Signs of pride in the community as revealed in the manner in which homes are maintained and lawns, sidewalks and streets are kept.

(4) Activities of the Chamber of Commerce, the civic clubs and other community organizations, the community recreation program, and the amount of crime and juvenile delinquency.

(5) The attitude of the community's merchants, as revealed in the appearance of their store fronts and interiors, the quality of their merchandise and the courtesy with which it is offered.

(6) The work attitude of the community's people as expressed in their relations with their employers, their productivity and their ability to adapt new procedures, methods and conditions.

The manufacturer appraising a community will choose, when other factors are relatively equal, the one whose people impress him the most favorably, he said.

Mr. Morris revealed that quite often, without anyone's being aware of it, "site sleuths" are in the area, investigating its potentialities on behalf of undisclosed principals. The reports these people make, he said, "may make or break us in our effort to obtain new industry."

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Warranty Case

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday handed down an opinion in Circuit Court in a novel case involving a suit for alleged breach of warranty filed by a Cumberland man against a local dealer and the Amana Refrigeration, Inc., an Iowa corporation.

The suit was brought by James L. Poland, city, against Lewis Yankelevitz and the Amana firm some time ago and the Amana firm made a motion to dismiss the suit as it affected the Amana company because of lack of jurisdiction of the local court.

Judge Harris overruled the motion of the Amana firm to dismiss the suit against the firm.

Judge Harris reviewed the facts in the case as follows:

"On or about the 31st day of March, 1956, the defendant, Lewis Yankelevitz, was engaged in the business of selling and distributing to the general public Amana Freezer-Refrigerators in Allegany County, Maryland. Amana manufactured these refrigerators in Iowa and the declaration alleges that Yankelevitz was its authorized dealer. The declaration further states that after the plaintiff paid for the refrigerator, he discovered it was defective and he notified Yankelevitz of its defective condition and Yankelevitz failed to repair the same or replace the same with equipment that would operate properly. The plaintiff further contends that Amana expressly warranted said equipment and was notified of its defective condition but failed to make good its warranty.

"Amana in its motion to dismiss alleges that all sales are made by it to franchised distributors who are wholly independent of Amana and operate their own business. The distributors, in turn, resell Amana products to local dealers who in turn resell the products to the consumer.

"At the time the motion was argued counsel for the parties filed in the proceeding a copy of the Amana Freezer-Refrigerator Five-Year Warranty Certificate.

"From the wording of the warranty, replacements are to be made through Amana's regularly appointed distributor or dealer. This being so, it was the obligation of Yankelevitz to see that the parts were returned to Amana.

"After full consideration of the standards set forth in two cases which were before the Maryland Court of Appeals concerning similar cases, I reach the conclusion that it would not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice to require Amana to defend Poland's claim in the present form. In view of all the circumstances, I conclude that under the particular facts of this case is applicable and does not offend the due process clause.

"The motion to dismiss is overruled. Amana to have 15 days to reply to the declaration."

Market Enjoys Technical Rally As Volume Expands

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The stock market enjoyed a technical rally today and its first two-million-share session in more than two weeks.

It was the market's first advance of six sessions. The recovery came from a point close to this year's lows.

Wall Streeters saw nothing in the news to cause a rebirth of confidence but noted that the approach to the year's lows had put the market in an oversold condition and had provided buying opportunities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.10 to $171.50 with the industrials up $2.20, the rails up 60 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,156 issues traded, the broadest market in two weeks, advances outnumbered declines by 548 to 352. There were 149 new lows for the year and one new high, National Biscuit.

Fourteen of the 15 most active stocks advanced and one was unchanged, Allegheny Corp.

The most active stock was Bethlehem Steel, up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 44 on 32,400 shares. Second was General Motors, up $\frac{1}{4}$ at 41 on 26,600 shares. Third was U. S. Steel, up $\frac{1}{2}$ at 64.

Gainers included Chrysler 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, Lukens Steel 2 $\frac{1}{2}$, Goodrich 1 $\frac{1}{4}$, Zenith 3 $\frac{1}{4}$, Boeing $\frac{3}{4}$, American Telephone $\frac{1}{2}$, Westinghouse Electric 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, Illinois Central 1 $\frac{1}{2}$, Baltimore & Ohio 1, Texas Co. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ and Amerasia 1 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Batista Faces A Gathering Storm

President Fulgencio Batista's regime in Cuba still rides high and hard in the saddle after the fighting which broke out last week in that nation. But there is increasing evidence that the Cuban dictator has been badly jolted and that he is in growing danger of being thrown — by an increasingly restive Cuban people — from the seat of power he has occupied for years.

There has been fighting for a long time in a rebel-occupied pocket in Oriente Province at the eastern tip of Cuba. There was a student-led uprising some months ago in Havana, at the island's other end.

Last week the rebellion spread to Cienfuegos, a coastal city midway between the capital and Oriente, where the status quo was restored only after heavy fighting.

A government which finds itself so lacking in popular support that rebellion can break out repeatedly is in unstable shape indeed. But what is more important as a sign that Batista's grip is wavering is the report that his own armed forces are beginning to desert to the rebel ranks. Units of the Cuban navy joined in the revolutionary action against the government troops at Cienfuegos.

A government which rules not by consent of the governed but by force is in a parlous state when it begins to lose control of the men in uniform it relies upon to keep the population in subjection.

Batista's future prospects seem dim as more and more Cubans show their willingness to fight or to aid the rebels rather than put up with their present ruler any longer.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Beauty And Progress

Somewhat London has retained its beauty despite progress. Peking and Hongkong were among the most beautiful cities in the world; Peking avoided progress as a curse; Hongkong, however, had given way to progress which can, at times, become very ugly. Pittsburgh, once one of the ugliest cities in all this world, has now become beautified.

Resort cities have a way of growing into sheer ugliness through progress. Los Angeles is a case in point. It used to be a place to which persons suffering from lung and throat illnesses went for recovery. Then came the great exodus of Middle Western farmers who found in Southern California sunshine an easy life among orange and lemon groves. Then came oil and ship-building and airplane factories. Then came the smog. No matter how you look at it, progress brought the smog.

Up here in the Berkshires, famous resort cities were slowly dying because the era of great estates had ended. The little towns were moving into gentle decay. During the Depression years, it looked as though western New England might decay until pine and spruce and maple forests filled in the little towns.

But then came not progress but art and saved the day for beauty. True, along with it came amazingly unbeautiful motels and eating places which are monuments to ugliness, but fortunately not too many of them and they do not obtrude themselves upon the view. Art does not pay as rapidly as progress but it is more permanent and although some of the little towns are wondering why Beethoven and Mozart should be tax free, the die is cast.

Newport in Rhode Island is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful places in the United States and to it have, for centuries, flocked those who seek a rigorous but protected climate. It was once an important shipping city but somehow it remained a place of beauty in a region upon which nature, combining ocean, stone and wind, has been lavish. Although the rich think of Newport in terms of Bailey's Beach and big dinner parties, I like to think of the gem of architecture, the Touro Synagogue, built in 1763.

However, the question that now faces Newport is whether it will bank in beauty or revel in progress. For what the bankers have brought to Newport is an oil installation of enormous dimensions, which Perkins McGuire, Assistant Secretary of Defense (supply and logistics), apparently favors on the ground that no military installation in the area is to be affected by the petroleum refinery.

Curious, that! Newport has been one of our principal naval bases for many decades. In fact, that is one reason why so many admirals have had rich wives. Also, right there is the Quonset Point Naval Air Station and the torpedo testing range of the Naval Underwater Ordnance Station. If these are not military establishments, what can they be?

McGuire, who came into the Department of Defense from the department store business, may feel that the customer is always right and that if the oil companies want to put up a refinery, they should be allowed to. Edward Perkins McGuire, to give his full name, was born in Boston, has worked in the department store business in New York and Cleveland and before his appointment to the Department of Defense was vice president of the Allied Stores of Ohio. He had, however, served in the Navy from 1942 to 1945 and therefore ought to be familiar with naval installations in Newport, which he probably is.

But who is to stand in the path of progress? That is a really serious question. The Navy may have to move its installations from Narragansett Bay. Anyhow, an oil refinery is not a thing of beauty even if it is a mark of progress. On May 24, 1957, the official Navy position was that the proposed refinery and the Navy would prove "incompatible." The Navy wanted the Commerce Oil Refining Corporation to construct the refinery elsewhere. Thus far, neither the corporation nor its protagonists in the Department of Defense have been able to prove that it is a matter of military necessity to have this particular installation on this particular spot, ruining the beauty of an area that has long been renowned for its beauty. Cannot progress go somewhere else where there is no beauty?

How Polish Revolution Has Ended 'For Now'

By Joseph Alsop

POZNAN, Poland.

It is something of an experience to introduce the American technique of political polling behind the famous iron curtain. At the outset, one even feels a certain trepidation. But this reporter can now testify that the experience is both fruitful and heart-warming.

I wanted to find out, very simply, how it had ended for the men who really started the great change in Poland. So I went out, polier's notebook in hand, to Poznan's Czechoslovakia. Here there is the workers' housing of the Cegielski steel plant, where the heroic Poznan strike began in June a year ago.

By local standards, Czechoslovakia is not a bad place. It comprises eight or nine huge blocks of one and two and three-roomed flats. The rooms are tiny. The buildings are dingy. They stand in a dingy, treeless expanse. But at least the flats have their small kitchens and still smaller bathrooms. There is only one family in each flat. And the scores of tow-headed children playing on the scurfy grass have a bright-faced liveliness that does not suggest real human misery.

After the charming children, the huge red brick church catches the eye. Even at the last mass on Sunday morning, every seat is taken. The aisles are packed with people. A dense crowd of young men stands at the back. And beyond the church doors, many scores of men and women kneel on the bare ground. Thus the pollers must write down Czechoslovakia as a district of devoutly Catholic skilled workers. This is the group to be opinion-tested here. But as one enters the first building and presses the first doorbell, doubts creep in about the planned opinion test. After all, vagrant poli-sters are too often greeted with profound suspicion in free America and here in Poland, we are in a still-Communist country which was also a brutal police state until less than a year ago.

Promptly, the door is opened by a large, solid, elderly man with that air of quiet dignity one often notices in older hand workers confident of their own skill. Behind him, there is a workman but neat middle-aged woman. After the strange visit is explained, both break into amiably hospitable smiles. They show the way to the little dining room-living room-children's bedroom, with its religious pictures, its poor ornaments, its tidy cribs, and its pile of onions from the garden allotment lying in the corner.

As is only fitting, the master of the house leads the conversation with the housewife acting as chorus. He has worked in the Cegielski plant over 30 years.

Before the war, he was a Social Democrat. He joined the strikers in June a year ago—"For how could I stand aside when my comrades went into the streets?"

It was a funny business, certainly, that strike, for they had no real hope when it began. It was a gesture of despair, you might say. But they were wrong to despair. "Since October"—that phrase one hears a hundred times a day in the new Poland—since Wladyslaw Gomułka came to power, everything has been different.

"It isn't so much the money," says the master of the house, "although I am getting a bit more money now."

"All the same," interjects the housewife briskly, "the extra money counts a lot. We were hard-driven this month, maybe, to get a sweater for our Karolina and to find the cash for the winter potatoes. But remember that I can manage a little meat

Causes And Relief Of Periodic Discomfort

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are more than 100 remedies for menstrual discomfort.

The list includes hormones, antispasmodic drugs, sedatives, narcotics, and other pain relievers. The large number of medicines means that no single one is ideal. If we had a specific, all the others would be discarded.

Painful menstruation (dysmenorrhea) varies in intensity. The majority of women never complain; others are uncomfortable but remain active. A small percentage go to bed for two or three days and feel so miserable they take aspirin or a sedative.

Causes of dysmenorrhea also vary.

It is well known that several pelvic disorders, such as fibroids and pelvic inflammation, give rise to discomfort during menstruation. In other instances, painful contractions of the uterus are responsible. This is more likely to happen in young, unmarried women, and now and then is traced to narrowing of the opening of the uterus or to an undeveloped uterus.

Emotional disturbances also play a role. Psychiatrists often find a history of maladjustment in the child prior to the onset of the menses. In many instances, it is traceable to the attitude of the mother toward her own menstruation. In this regard, the pattern set by the mother is passed along to the daughter.

Other symptoms such as headache, bloating, a tired feeling, depression, irritability, and nausea coexist. These complaints are not necessarily psychological, because they may come from pelvic congestion that occurs just prior to the period.

Mild dysmenorrhea responds to aspirin or other pain reliever. A sedative may be added if the personality demands it. Hormones are advised only occasionally.

Dysmenorrhea is likely to diminish in severity with the years. Now and then it disappears after the first baby. When it lasts two to three days each month, and does not respond to medication or psychiatric interviews, surgery may be advisable. Certain nerves in the pelvis are removed to eliminate pain without interfering with the function of the pelvic organs.

EMOTIONAL REACTION

H. F. writes: Why does my upper chest break out in ugly red spots when I'm self-conscious? I have to wear round-necked blouses to cover this outbreak.

REPLY

The V of the neck tells more secrets than many individuals realize. Blushing in this area is common, particularly in high-strung persons, when they are excited or upset. Victims of high blood pressure have the same reaction, especially when the reading is higher than high.

NASAL CONGESTION

L. E. writes: Can anything be done for vasomotor rhinitis? My nose is congested or running most of the time and the doctor says it's an allergy.

REPLY

If you are using nose drops, stop, and go after the cause. I'm certain your physician has outlined treatment for you but for additional information on the subject, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on allergic rhinitis.

PERSISTENT HOARSENESS

M. D. writes: Could continued hoarseness be caused by nervousness or anxiety? I am bothered along this line and the condition seems to improve when I relax.

REPLY

Yes, but this cause is never acceptable unless the vocal cords have been examined thoroughly and found to be normal.

THE ROOMMATE SUFFERS

D. F. writes: Does a snorer get the proper kind and amount of sleep?

REPLY

Yes, but the same cannot be said for the listener.

NERVES AND GRAYING

T. C. writes: Does nervousness cause the hair to turn gray prematurely?

REPLY

Yes, but the individual must be predisposed to early graying through an inherited trait.

America's First Line Of Defense Moved From Rhine To Bosphorus

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is now on a trip through southern Europe and the Near East to report on American attempts to meet the Communist menace.)

By Drew Pearson

ATHENS, Greece — Just 18 years ago, shortly after Hitler invaded Poland, Franklin D. Roosevelt called a meeting of Senate leaders to discuss the emergency facing the United States. During that conference he remarked:

"America's first line of defense is on the Rhine."

The meeting was supposed to be strictly confidential. But shortly thereafter, word of what FDR had said leaked out and the late Sen. Bennett Clark of Missouri denounced him for claiming that the nation's first line of defense was beyond the New York, New Jersey and New England coast. Other senators joined Clark in the attack.

Since then the world war which Roosevelt foresaw spread to Hawaii and to submarine sinkings within eyeshot of the Florida and Carolina coasts; while the first line of America's defense has been extended to air bases far beyond the Rhine.

As part of this extension, Harry Truman, exactly 10 years ago, placed one American line of defense in Greece and Turkey. Probably it was the most revolutionary, radical extension of American defense since Roosevelt's 1939 statement about the Rhine.

So today, 10 years after establishment of the Truman Doctrine, what many people would like to know is whether this Greek-Turkish line of defense is in fact a real line of defense; whether our dollars have been wisely invested, and whether the communist menace is winning or losing in a large part of the world which guards the only warm waterway to Russia—the Bosphorus.

With the Soviet now jumping across this waterway to Syria and Egypt, the big question is: Will our Greek and Turkish allies get boxed in? With Soviet submarine bases in Albania, Syria and Egypt, will they become isolated, discouraged, and start leaning toward Russia?

This is one of the most important questions facing the United States and to get the answer, I came first to Athens.

Efficient Greek Air Force

Part of the answer lies in the Greek Army, Air Force and Navy. Part lies in the determination of the Greek people. To get the military answer I went out to Eleusis Airfield to talk to various officers, including Gen. John Politakos, Chief of the Greek Joint Staff Group. I also talked with American military men in Greece, flew in Greek air force planes and watched the most dramatic jet-fighter exhibitions I have ever seen. For skillful, precision-timed flying it surpassed an American show I once saw staged for General Eisenhower at Munich, Germany.

There is no question but that the Greek military are in tip-top shape and that morale is high. In time of war they could supply 11 army divisions, plus one armored division plus 12 air wings, plus a small but highly skilled navy. The Greek Navy, however, has only four submarines, two of them old British subs. They are outdated by the Syrians and Egyptians with up-to-date Soviet subs.

The Greek military, which amounts to another arm of the U. S. armed forces stationed right alongside the Iron Curtain, is costing the USA peanuts. A Greek soldier is paid one drachma—three cents—per day. A Greek colonel is paid $120 a month, about the same as the pay of an American private first class with dependent's allowance.

Financed By Farm Aid

Furthermore this is all financed by American farm products. Aside from the military equipment sent from the United States, much of which is old, all the military and economic aid for Greece this year came from selling Secretary Benson's huge oversupply of farm products.

Probably few American farmers realize it, but Benson would have had his bins bulging even more if it weren't for the aid program to Greece and other countries.

Here is how the aid program works out in terms of farm products:

1. A total of $15,000,000 in farm products is sold in Greece for local Greek currency. This money goes to the Greek military and is an outright gift.

2. Another $13,000,000 in farm products is given to the Greek people through CARE, Church World Services and Catholic Welfare. This also is a gift.

3. Another $40,000,000 in farm products goes to the Greek Government on a loan basis, to be repaid in 40 years at 4 per cent interest.

This makes a total of $68,000,000, all in farm products, of which $40,000,000 is a loan. Of this total, however, $10,000,000 in Greek currency goes to the use of the United States for paying the expenses of the American Embassy and of American personnel in Greece.

The above is a big reduction from the $280,000,000 which the United States gave to Greece during the peak year 1949 when Greece was fighting a desperate battle against Communist guerrillas.

That battle, thanks largely to American aid, has now been won.

However Greece, despite remarkable progress, faces other problems, including the clumsiness of our own State Department, which will be diagnosed in future columns.

LITTLE ROCK (INS) — It is sickening and disheartening to watch the little crowd of town loafers, slattern housewives, old pappy characters and soiled children too young for school which gathers each morning in front of Little Rock Central High.

The decent, well-scrubbed industrial people of the city are nowhere to be seen. They are at their jobs and professions. A tour through any other section of Little Rock presents only the routine sights and sounds of a thriving, middle-sized American town, this one pleasantly dominated by a fine State Capitol with a bright gold tip on its white dome.

There is no problem with these people that they are sure cannot be cured. If they just leave us be." You hear that said on all sides. It means, "if the troops would go back to their civilian jobs, if the reporters and photographers would go home, and if Central High was allowed to settle things as other integrated schools in the state have settled things."

Integration is not an easy task here. But the misgivings that many are tormented by are not as strong as their deep respect for the law. And so the desegregation of Arkansas' seats of learning continues, and at a faster clip than almost anywhere in the South and along the Border States.

But the word hasn't broken through to the tight knots of what we used to call po' white trash which assemble at Central High as regularly as if they were attending school. The National Guardsmen assigned by the governor to guard against "violence" by turning back the handful of Negroes eligible and willing to attend the school, plainly feel it is the better part of valor to "go along" with the characters in the mob. They will hustle away anybody the crowd, in its grazing search for a victim, decides deserves particular abuse. They will not hustle away the trouble-makers within the crowd. "We've got to live with these people after you've gone," a guard said with a shrug today.

It takes genuine courage for the better elements in the half-comical, half-terrifying crowd to speak up. The other day a young mother who was plainly an intellectual cut above the viper-tongued sisters in attendance made her voice heard above the mumbling and said, to nobody in particular, "I'm as much against integration as anybody else, but this is a legal matter. This is law. Every person should have his rights under the law." She was heckled to tears.

"I don't hate niggers," she wailed in the course of trying to make a point, and she must have by then felt as if she were attempting to swim up Niagara Falls.

"Well, I do!" boomed in a man who loomed over her like a falling building. He was pleased and flattered by the burst of applause he received, and gave off a broken Roquefort cheese smile.

The women are worse. They say the things the drab men don't care to say out loud, and they say them with a brazen brassiness, pulling the crowd around them like a protecting cloak. "Are you one of them Rooshian Jews?" a ruffled brunet with a dishes-still-in-the-sink look, laughingly asked Dr. Benjamin Fine of The New York Times the other day. It must have been the biggest laugh the crowd had had since their TV sets were repossessed.

"Go home Niggah," a huge, middle-aged woman yelled at Alvin Naal, Amsterdam, N. Y., News reporter. "Go back north where you belong." Naal said flatly, "But I'm from Nashville." This sounded pretty sinister to the National Guard. They hitched up their guns and escorted the reporter out of the neighborhood.

"Doesn't that sort of thing come under the heading of inciting violence?" a reporter asked Lt. Col. Marion Johnson, the well known local authority on newspaper ethics. Col. Johnson gave it some brooding thought and then explained, "I will not make a statement on that."

The crowd buzzed on, straining to laugh, waiting for something to happen, fearful it would and troubled it wouldn't. The harpies wandered about, seeking someone else to abuse, proud of their power to insult and their gift for making others gloat.

You're Telling Me!

In one respect, you must admit, the lowly second-division New York Giants have pulled ahead of the first-division Dodgers. They are getting to California first—next year, in fact.

One of the chief reasons the New York club has decided to head Coastward is that vision of Golden Gate receipts.

The gold-seeking California-bound Giants, we read, will keep their nickname and not change it to the Fifty-Eighters.

At that, points out Milt, the sterling printer, it took the Giants almost a century before they followed the advice of that late, great New York newspaper editor, Horace Greeley.

CAP Rescue Exercise Is Successful

MOOREFIELD — The Search and Rescue exercise held by Moorefield Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol Sunday was successful when the simulated wreckage of a Cessna 172 airplane was spotted six miles south of Petersburg by C. R. Powers and Johnny Bell.

The extensive search started at 9 a. m. with 10 aircraft and a dozen mobile ground units. The exercise problem consisted of a plane which was supposed to have departed from Hot Springs, Va. en route to Cumberland, Md. A line search along the route was conducted first with two aircraft searching both north to Cumberland and south to the Virginia line. Later all aircraft searched 10-mile square grids marked off each side of the route.

More than 100 personnel from CAP squadrons at Martinsburg, Moorefield and Hancock, Md., participated in the exercise. The problem was the last of a series of three conducted by Group IV of the CAP.

William C. Goetz, squadron commander of the Moorefield squadron had charge of the exercise. L. W. Talbott, Flemington, W. Va., wing commander and Clarence W. Flick, Martinsburg, Group IV commander, were observers.

A statewide SARCAP will be conducted Friday, September 20 in which all squadrons in West Virginia will participate.

Sports Shoppe, Hermans, So. End Win Softball Openers

Chas. Smith Whiffs 16 In 3-2 Nightcap

Ritter's Bow In Nine-Inning Tilt; Stringtown Beaten

Sports Shoppe, behind the effective four-hit pitching of Charles Smith, defeated Ritter's A. C., 3-2, in the nine-inning nightcap of the opening round of the Western Maryland Softball Tournament last night at Penn Avenue field.

In the initial game of the triple-header the South End Democrats downed Stringtown, 5-1, while in the second game the Hermans wallpopped Bopp's Flower Shop, 11-1.

Sports Shoppe, winners in the Rec League, rallied for a run in the seventh inning to send the game into overtime and then plated the winning tally in the second extra frame.

Perry Hits Triple
Junie Perry led off the seventh for the winners with a booming triple and scored the tying run on an infield out. In the ninth, Elliott was safe on an error and was sacrificed to second from where he scored on Perry's single.

Thompson had a double and single for Sport Shoppe in addition to Perry's two blows off Dusty Rhodes who allowed only five hits in bowing to Smith. Smith struck out 16 Ritter's batters for the top whiff performance of the evening.

Zimmerman had two hits, including a double, for Ritter's. The Hermans, City League champs, had an easy time with Bopp's, composed mostly of Rec League players. Hayden Phillips pitched two-hit ball, allowing singles by Page and Metthod, while striking out 14 Bopp's batters.

Hermans Coast
The Hermans belted Lee for five runs in the first two innings and then coasted to victory. Jerry Yankee had two hits including a home run with a mate aboard in the second inning for the Hermans. Dave Moreland's triple and single added to the winners' attack.

In the opening fray at 6 o'clock the South End Democrats, composed mostly of Elks players from the Rocking Chair League, set down Stringtown, of the County League.

Jim Skelley belted a four-bagger with one on in the second inning to put South End ahead and Glenn Kaufman turned back the Stringtown squad with eight hits.

Bob Keyser also had a pair of hits for South End while Jim Matthews with a double and single and Don Shaffer with two hits led the Stringtown swat smiths.

Charles Robinette starred at second base for Stringtown and Hoppy Crabtree and George McGregor excelled in the infield for South End.

Cage Provides Play
Ronnie Cage provided the fielding highlight when he threw out a Stringtown hitter at first base on an apparent single to right field.

Gene Mason, recreation department director, announced last night that the Old Germans had withdrawn from the tournament and that Corriganville would automatically draw a bye into the next round because of the withdrawal. Corriganville was to have met the Old Germans in the first game of tonight's schedule.

Tonight only one game will be played with the Maple Inn Exports of the County League meeting Gray's Tavern of the Rec League at 6 o'clock. The scores:

Taylor, Yost Score Heavily In National Amateur Golf

Both Knock Out Top Opponents

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 11 (AP)—A smooth-swinging dentist from California and a young school equipment salesman from the great Northwest seized star roles in the 57th National Amateur Golf Championship today as the field was whittled to a respectable 16.

Dr. Frank Taylor of Upland, Calif., unleashed the day's two hottest rounds in erasing a pair of giant-killers. First he whipped Frank Bostock, the dude rancher from Phoenix, Ariz., 7 and 6, and then sent Franklin Simon of Rye, N. Y., to the sidelines, also by 7 and 6.

Bostock had beaten former champion Ted Bishop and Simon had upset British Walker Cupper Guy Wolstenholme before they ran into the doctor's torrid sticks. Taylor was seven under par for the day.

Turns On Heat
The only shotmaking to match him was by Dick Yost, former Walker Cup player from Portland, Ore., who turned the heat on 17-year-old Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, in a fourth round match for 3 and 2 victory.

Nicklaus, who earlier in the day had beaten former public links champion Sam Kocsis of Lake Orion, Mich., by a whopping 8 and 7 score, shot three under par golf for nine holes, yet was one down, to Yost at the turn.

These two far westerners entered the fifth round with a handful of Walker Cup stars; a lone Britisher, Alan Thirlwell, and a collection of ex-champions and raw youths bidding to grab control of amateur golf.

Survivors included Dick Chapman of Oysterville, Mass., who has won the British, French, Canadian and U.S. titles, and a quartet of Walker Cup stars, besides Dr. Taylor; Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.; L. Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., and Charles (Chuck) Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich.

The "dark horse" element was represented by John Penrose, a 43-year-old insurance man from Miami, Fla., who beat former champion Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., on the 24th hole of a match which ended in semi-darkness; Gene Andrews, 44-year-old veteran from Beverly Hills, Calif.; Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N. Y., well-known around the metropolitan New York area, and Ed die Meyerson, a smooth-stroking 22-year-old from Los Angeles.

Los Angeles Had Sought Statement

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson will have to wait at least another week for his "yes" or "no" reply from Brooklyn President Walter O'Malley on whether the Dodgers will move to California.

This was indicated by O'Malley today when asked if he planned to confer with Poulson before the mayor left for Washington D. C. tomorrow.

"At this time," he said, "there is nothing to be said to anyone. There is nothing new before us that requires a statement."

Mayor Poulson, who yesterday said he would seek a definite statement from O'Malley, was resigned today to waiting a while longer before telling his Los Angeles constituents whether they would have major league baseball in 1958.

The Los Angeles official appeared fully recovered from his shock yesterday when he learned that Nelson A. Rockefeller had interceded on behalf of those trying to keep the Dodgers in Brooklyn. He insisted he would continue in his efforts to lure the Dodgers to his city.

"I have decided not to talk to Walter O'Malley, nor to anyone," he said. "I think the best procedure is to leave the matter up to my negotiator, Harold C. McClellan (business representative for the city of Los Angeles)."

"In my opinion too many cooks can spoil the broth. At this stage it has become 'on again off again, down again Finnegan' but there still is no finality."

O'Malley, asked when he thought he would be in a position to give a definite answer to Los Angeles, said:

"As of now the timetable says the next important date on the calendar should be next week when the New York Board of Estimate holds its regular meeting."

The Celanese Staff Bowling League began its 35th season of play last night with a pair of games on the Club Recreation alleys.

The Celaperms won 2-1 over the Acetates and the Fortisians defeated the Arnels, 2-1.

Bernard Tasker led the Celaperms with 153-400 while teammate Ethel Northcraft had 364. Best for the Acetates were Byron Bonebreak with 395 and Marguerite Mullan with 343.

High for the Fortisians were Sally Conrad with 201-460 and Alvin Serf, 387. Tops for Arnels were Francis Stein with 169-429 and Pauline Shaffer with 190-377.

Fairgo Request To Transfer Races Denied
BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission has rejected a request by Cumberland race track to transfer its forthcoming 12-day meeting to Bowie, Laurel or Marlboro.

The commission acted after receiving a ruling on the bid from Joseph S. Kaufman, assistant attorney general.

Kaufman said the race commission could transfer the meet in an emergency, but added that "on the facts presented by the Cumberland Fair Association, Inc., no such emergency exists."

The assistant attorney general noted the 1920 law authorizing half-mile racing specified that the licensing was an adjunct to the county fairs. He said:

"To allow transfers for frivolous and unworthy reasons would defeat the purposes for which the licenses are granted and would undoubtedly make any contingency 'an emergency.'"

Cumberland, with a relatively sparse population from which to draw, is considered one of Maryland's weakest tracks. Its meeting will open Sept. 23.

Yankees, Tribe Split Two; Maglie Wins

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Ol Sal Maglie spun a sweet three-hitter that beat his former Cleveland mates 3-0 in the afternoon, but the Indians hustled back and beat New York's Yankees 4-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Ray Narleski tonight for a day-night doubleheader split that left the Yankees with a 5½-game American League lead.

Chicago's second-place White Sox, just four games behind in the lost column after beating Boston this afternoon have another game at Boston tomorrow while the Yankees are idle. They came to Yankee Stadium for a two-game series opening Friday.

Narleski's job isn't to be snubbed, but it was only second best to the dandy show of slow stuff Maglie threw for his first American League victory in his first Yankee Stadium start since last October—when he lost a five-hitter as Yankee Don Larsen beat Brooklyn with his perfect World Series game.

Maglie, a 40-year-old righthander, the Yankees bought from the Dodgers for $25,000 and two players Sept. 1, gave up a single to Joe Caffie and a ground rule double to Russ Nixon in the second inning, then no-hit the Tribe until Nixon singled with two out in the ninth.

Fighting a heavy cold, Maglie had to battle almost all the way against righthander Early Wynn, another veteran, who lost his 17th Wynn gave up only four hits in his seven innings and was the victim of a pair of unearned runs in the fourth.

The Yankees didn't give Sal a really comfortable lead until the eighth, when they collected three more runs.

Narleski, a 28-year-old righthander who had lost four without a victory since August 8, was touched for only one healthy hit, an RBI triple by Hank Bauer, who also singled in the fifth, cutting Cleveland's lead to 2-1.

The other Yank safeties were infield singles as Narleski gained a 10-5 record. He walked five and struck out just one—fanning pinch-hitter Zeke Bella, in his first major league appearance following his purchase from Denver, on three pitches in the seventh.

Little Bobby Shantz, now 10-5, was the loser, giving up eight hits and three of the Tribe's runs in his seven frames. Chico Carrasquel had two singles for the Indians and drove in the clinching run with a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

Podres Beats Chicubs, 9-1
CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Southpaw Johnny Podres faced the Chicago Cubs for the first time this season today and scattered six hits while pitching the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 9-1 victory. It was Podres' 12th win of the year, high for his four-year major league career.

The Dodgers sent 11 men to the plate in the fourth inning and scored six of them while routing starter Bob Rush and sending him down to his 15th defeat.

Podres aided his own cause with three hits, including a run-scoring double in the fourth.

After Ernie Banks slammed his 37th homer for the Cubs in the second, the Dodgers started their assault on Rush with two runs in the second on singles by Roy Campanella and Podres, a sacrifice fly by Pee Wee Reese and another single by Gil Hodges.

Terps Drill Two Hours For Opener

COLLEGE PARK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Coach Tommy Mont sent his Maryland football team through another two-hour scrimmage today in preparation for its Sept. 21 date with Texas A & M at Dallas.

Fred Hamilton, No. 1 right half-back, reeled off a 63-yard touchdown run and completed all four of his passing attempts in the first period of the workout, played under game conditions.

Quarterback Dickie Lewis found the mark on five of six at another stage of the scrimmage and scored from four yards on a keeper play.

Reserve halfback Bob Layman registered two touchdowns, both on runs of three yards. No. 2 halfback John Forbes scored on a four-yard smash after returning an intercepted pass 40 yards, and Phil Perlo racked up another from four yards out.

Mont said the last scrimmage before the season opener will be held Saturday.

Pittsburgh's Ronnie Kline Stops Milwaukee, 2 To 1

Hank Foiles Bats In Both Pirate Runs

Warren Spahn, In Bid For 20th Win, Is Braves' Loser

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Catcher Hank Foiles crashed a homer in the third and singled in the winning run in the ninth today for a 2-1 Pittsburgh victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The decisive poke by Foiles derailed the veteran Warren Spahn's bid for his 20th pitching triumph of the season.

Kline, robbed of a shutout by Andy Pafko's second-inning homer, threw a six-inning game for the Pirates an even-break in the abbreviated two-game series with the National League leaders.

A Ladies Day turnout of 16,820 sat in on the proceedings on a dark, sometimes misty afternoon.

Spahn, after holding the Pirates well in check for eight innings, ran into real trouble in the top of the ninth when Bob Skinner beat out a slow bouncer to Red Schoendienst and continued to second when the Braves' second baseman threw the ball into the first base dugout. Frank Thomas' fly to Hank Aaron in center moved Skinner to third.

Roberto Clemente, pitch hitting for Bill Virdon, drew a walk, and Foiles slashed a single to center to drive in Skinner with what became the winning run. Spahn got the side out by fanning Kline.

Ned Oldham Shows Well In Navy Practice

Coach Is Pleased With Squad Drills

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Halfback Ned Oldham, who has been a solid performer for Navy since he cracked the starting lineup as a sophomore two years ago, is heading for an even better season this year if the Middle practice sessions are any gauge.

Coach Eddie Erdelatz reeled off some film of an intrasquad scrimmage for a press conference today.

The first two times the 182-pound senior from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, dropped back for punt returns, he went all the way for touchdowns. He also reeled off several nice runs from scrimmage and gathered in passes from quarterback Tom Forrestal for other big gains.

"Oldham is running better than ever," Erdelatz observed of his 1957 team captain, who was Navy's leading ground gainer (44 yards rushing) and leading scorer (53 points) last season.

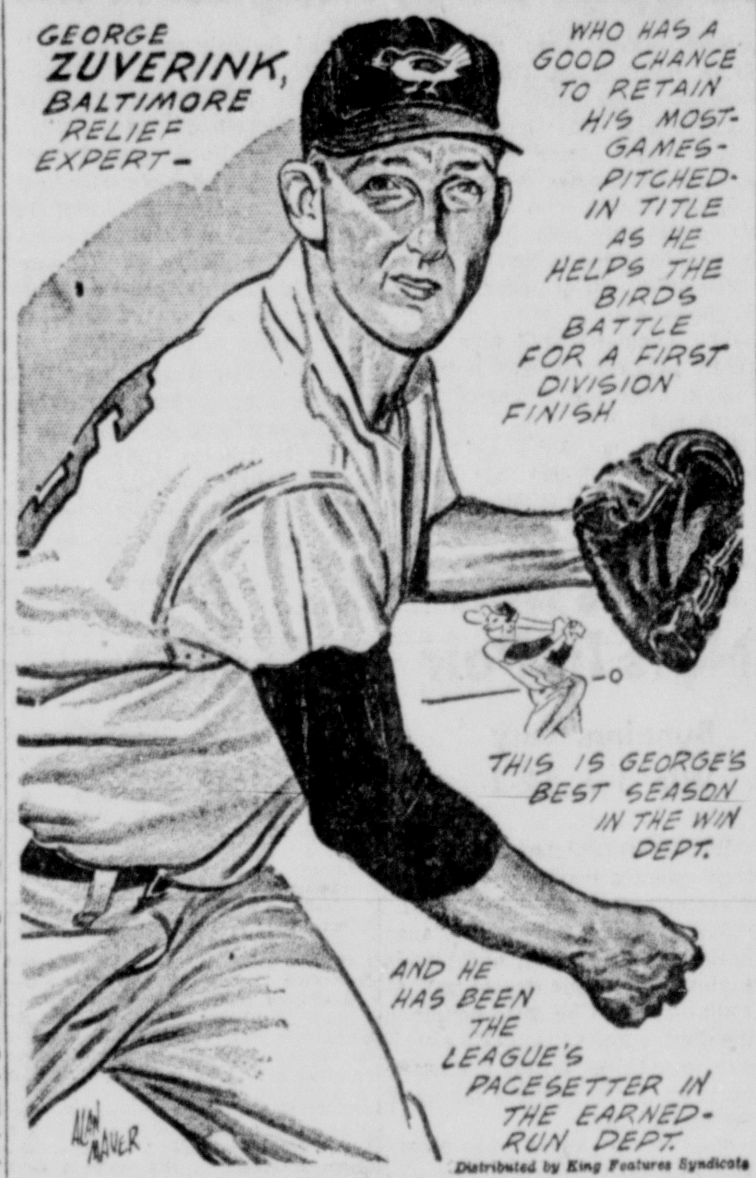

"For that matter the whole team is improving. I'm very pleased with the progress."

Erdelatz had every right to be pleased as the squad continued prepping for its season opener against Boston College 10 days away.

Forrestal looked sharp and sure as he led the Middle passing and ground game. Fullback Dick Daggampat, along with Oldham the Middle's biggest threat as a break-away runner, and halfback Harry Hurst also were performing well. Up front, guard Tony Stremic and Tony Anthony anchor a generally well seasoned line.

The first U. S. woman cabinet member was Frances Perkins, secretary of Labor during Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration.

Weakening Pacific Coast Grid Loop Seen Near End

UCLA And USC May Drop Out

By JOE ST. AMANT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11 (INS)—The Pacific Coast Conference, torn by dissension over penalties for illegal aid to athletes, may be headed into its last football season today.

Member schools from the Southland, UCLA and Southern California, have hinted broadly they may junk the conference round robin schedule at the end of this season and this could be the death knell.

The Southern schools would prefer to schedule top teams from throughout the nation rather than the poor-drawing teams from the Pacific Northwest so the trouble all boils down to a matter of dollars and cents.

Stripped Off Seniors
UCLA and USC were stripped of senior players this year by conference edict and crippling of their teams leaves the way open for Oregon State to repeat as conference champion.

The Beavers bowed to Iowa in the Rose Bowl classic at the end of the 1956 season but they won't get the chance to meet a Big Ten team again because of a PCC rule that says no team may appear in the bowl two years in a row.

At Oregon State coach Tommy Prothro will build his attack once again around the 195-pound tailback, Joe Francis who ran up 203 yards in total offense against Iowa in the Rose Bowl. He also has another fine runner in halfback Earnel Durden and a strong first string line anchored by the 226-pound Dave Jessmer.

Barred From Bowl
UCLA, USC and Washington are barred from the Rose Bowl by the conference because of under-the-table payments to athletes and with Oregon State also banned, this leaves only five teams eligible.

And so it comes to pass that the dubious honor of representing the coast in the Rose Bowl will fall to California, Stanford, Oregon, Washington State or Idaho.

Idaho can be eliminated as of this writing since the Vandals play only three conference members, Oregon, Oregon State and Washington and could hardly qualify even if they win all three.

The conference votes on the Rose Bowl representative and it appears doubtful they would select Idaho although the Vandals are coming up with what is billed as their strongest team in a generation.

The University of Washington with a new coach, Jim Owens, fresh from the Oklahoma State school, may be a good bet to appear in the Pasadena post-season game. Owens has 21 returning lettermen including an excellent Split-T quarterback Al Ferguson, and hard-running ball carriers in halfback Luther Carr and fullback Jim Jones.

New Coaches At Helm

The University of California also has a new and young coach in Pete Elliott, another Split-T man, and he may go far on enthusiasm alone. To make his wide open offensive go Elliott has inherited a good passing quarterback in Joe Kapp who will toss to two better-than-average ends, Roger Ramseier and Ron Wheatcroft.

At Stanford, coach Chuck Taylor has a rebuilding job. He lost all American quarterback John Brodie and will try to fill the vacancy with a pair of Jacks—Jack Douglas and Jack Taylor.

Washington State looks like it will fight for the league cellar with Idaho.

UCLA and USC, though handicapped by the rule against seniors, will no doubt provide a number of upsets and will probably be ranked nationally ahead of most of the other league teams.

Schedule Change

The scheduled game between Meyersdale High and Northern High on the Garrett County School field has been moved from Saturday to Friday. The game will begin at 1 p. m. Lillburn L. Brown, athletic director of Northern said last night.

Any day in winter, more than 20 million people can be found suffering from colds.

White Sox Top Boston, 4-1, In 11 Innings

Bill Fischer Goes Route For 11 Innings

BOSTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Chicago's runner-up White Sox, steadfast in their ambition to overtake the American League leading New York Yankees, scored three times in the 11th inning today for a 4-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Jim Rivera singled home the tie-breaking run and Fred Hatfield's pinch single to right sent across the third and fourth runs of the game for the winning Chicagoans.

The Red Sox, who threatened in the 10th, went out in order in the second extra inning as Bill Fischer evened his season's pitching record at seven victories and defeats.

Willard Nixon, who lost his 11th, was chased in the 11th inning up-rising and Mike Fornieles finished. Fornieles yielded the two-run hit to Hatfield.

"There are six times more thefts than fires in homes," says a magazine article. Would personal belongings stolen from the home or garage, taken from a restaurant, or from a cabin or hotel while traveling, or by a hold-up man, all be covered by a Residence Theft Policy?"

Steelers Get Three Players

Pittsburgh Team Drops Chandnois

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers today obtained three players in trades with the Washington Redskins and the Detroit Lions and released veteran halfback Lynn Chandnois.

For Chandnois it means the end of a seven-year pro career unless he catches on with some other team. The former Michigan State star was the Steelers' No. 1 draft choice in 1950.

From Detroit the Steelers obtained Jack Kemp, a 6-2, 200 pound quarterback, formerly of Occidental College, and tackle Dave Liddick, a 250-pound lineman from George Washington, in exchange for two future draft choices.

In a straight player deal with the Redskins the Steelers traded tackle Don Owens for fullback Dale Atkeson.

Owens, a 250 pounder from Philadelphia, was the Steelers' third draft choice this year. Atkeson, who hails from Manhattan Beach, Calif., was with the Redskins four years.

Petersen Placed On Waiver List

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 11 (AP)—Gerald (Big Heap) Petersen, 280-pound tackle from the University of Texas, was placed on waivers today by the Baltimore Colts.

The move reduced the Baltimore roster to 41 players, three above the National Football League's cutoff limit of next Sunday. The squad must be cut to 35 by the opening of the season.

Petersen, who weighed 315 when he reported for spring practice in 1956, played in one game last season. He saw considerable action in three exhibition games this year.

Moore Is Traded To Colts Eleven

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The New York football Giants today traded Henry Moore, a defensive halfback from Arkansas, to the Baltimore Colts for a high draft choice in 1958.

Moore, injured during most of 1956, his rookie season, scored a touchdown in the championship playoff game with the Chicago Bears when he recovered a blocked punt. Moore was the Giants No. 2 choice in the 1956 draft.

Orioles Sign 18-Year-Old Lefty

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP)—Richard Moavero, 18-year-old left handed pitcher from Stamford, Conn., has been signed to a 1958 contract with the Fitzgerald club of the Class D Georgia-Florida League.

It was announced today by Farm Director Jim McLaughlin of the Orioles.

The 5-foot-10 southpaw was signed by Oriole scout Joe Cusick who watched Moavero pitch in high school as well as American Legion competition last season. At Stamford High, Moavero won 6 and lost 0 in his senior year. Last year, he had a 6-0 record with the Oscar Crown post of Stamford.

Hartack Cops 34th Stakes At Atlantic City

Trails Arcaro Mark By Six With Win

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Jockey Willie Hartack today won his 34th stakes victory when he drove Jacob Sher's two-year-old filly, Sweet Mandy, to a length and three-quarter victory over Bernadotte Stables in the six furlong Mermaid Stakes. Hartack now is six stakes victories shy of Eddie Arcaro's seasonal record of 40, and today's score was his 282nd of the year. It brings the total earnings of his mounts to $2,207,159.25 or just $36,795.75 back of his record set last year.

Sweet Mandy was picking up her second victory although she had finished third in three stakes engagements, Schuylerville, Sorority and Astoria. Hartack went about his business in earnest. Breaking from the number nine post position he had the Prince Quest filly off alertly and holding a three length advantage at the halfway marker.

Dance Card was closest in pursuit at this juncture and at the head of the stretch Hartack elected to save ground by the rail and was able to hold Kapitator safe in her late bid.

Kapitator was never far off and replaced Dance Card in the stretch run.

The winner paid $7.20, $5.00 and $3.60 across the board. Kapitator returned a tidy $18.20 and $9.20 while Dance Card's backers received $6.40. Sweet Mandy sped the six panels in 1:12 2-5 over a muddy strip.

Bayou Wins In Gazelle At Belmont

Eddie Arcaro Up In $30,650 'Cap

ELMONT, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Claiborne Farm's Bayou turned on the power in the final furlong to win the 62nd running of the $30,650 Gazelle Handicap, a 3-year-old filly classic, at Belmont Park today.

The daughter of Hill Prince, Bourta, returning to her top form under the urging of Eddie Arcaro, stepped the mile and a sixteenth in the moderate time of 1:43 1/5.

Bayou got to the wire a length and a half ahead of Darby Dan Farm's Evening Time who nosed William R. Beasley's Pink Velvet, the pace-setter, for the place.

Pink Velvet cut out a brisk pace with Mrs. Gerard R. Smith's Outer Space and C. V. Whitney's Snow White in closest pursuit. At the top of the stretch, Evening Time made her move along the rail with Reverie Knoll Farm's Romanita, while Bayou made her run in mid-track.

Pink Velvet held on gamely as Evening Time closed the gap along the rail, but Bayou took command 100 yards from the wire and won going away.

Given luke-warm support in the wagering by the crowd of 18,890, Bayou returned the across the board mutuels of $15.90, $11.60 and $8.50. Evening Time paid $33.60 and $18.90 and Pink Velvet was $6.10 to show.

Get in on the fun. You may be a winner. In any case, you're bound to be ahead if you take advantage of the 7 point service offered by the Esso dealers in Cumberland.
Seven times daily, Monday through Saturday, WTBO will announce Allegheny County license numbers which have been selected by an officer of the First National Bank of Cumberland. If you are the registered owner of the car whose license number is called, and you phone WTBO, at Parkview 2-6666, within two hours after the announcement, you will win an Esso Merchandise Booklet. It is good for $10.00 worth of fine Esso products and services of any Cumberland Esso dealer's seven point service station.
THEN, on Saturday night at 7:07, one of the numbers announced during the week will be announced again. If the registered owner of that car calls WTBO within two hours, he will be the winner of the Cumberland Esso Dealers Big Seven Treasury for that week. The Big Seven Treasury will start at $300.00 and increase $100.00 each week it is not claimed.

Waste Equals Budget

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 11 (AP)—The National Industrial Productivity Council says the annual waste in Mexican manufacturing amounts to roughly the same as the government's budget. It estimates that waste in machinery and the use of waste in materials causes a loss of around 35 billion pesos ($2,800,000,000) a year.

December comes from the Latin word, "decem," which means "ten." That was when there were but ten months in the year.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1930 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Md., in regular session Monday, August 12, 1957, approved the reports of Commissioners for the closing of portions of the following streets and unnamed alley:

1. READ TERRACE — from Washington Street to North Terrace

2. UNNAMED ALLEY — running 100 feet distant and parallel with Sanford Street and extending eastwardly from Gleason Street to an unnamed alley.

3. SOMMERVILLE AVENUE — from Fourth Street to Quebec Avenue in South View Addition.

Said Commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinances Nos. 2052, 2062 and 2064 respectively, for the purpose of assessing damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said portions of streets or the unnamed alley. After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said streets and unnamed alley, the Commissioners present the following:

1. "After careful examination of the street or terrace or portions of streets and terraces to be closed, the Commissioners feel that none of the adjacent property owners are affected thereby, and that no damages will be caused by the aforesaid closing of portion of said Read Terrace to the owners or possessors of any property located along said Read Terrace, nor will any material benefits be derived therefrom by the abutting property owners or possessors of property along said Read Terrace."

2. "That there are no damages to any abutting property owners resulting from the closing of said alley and that the said incident thereto should be charged by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland to Charles W. Valentine, of R. D. 1, R. 1, R. 2, W. Va., and we do assess the cost of the same to the said Charles W. Valentine, it being our determination that the payment of said costs offsets any special benefits which the said Charles W. Valentine may derive from the said closing."

3. "That there are no damages to any abutting property owners resulting from the closing of the aforementioned portion of Sommersville Avenue and that the property owner to receive some benefit from the closing of said portion of Sommersville Avenue is the Chesapeake & Potomac Company of Maryland, and the same benefit be derived by said company will depend upon the future use by said company of said portion of Sommersville Avenue, which it may acquire as the abutting property owner by the closing of said portion of Sommersville Avenue. Under the circumstances, the Commissioners feel that said company should pay the expenses and costs incident to the closing of said portion of said avenue and that the payment of said costs should offset the immediate benefit received by said company as a result of the closing, and that no other benefits should be assessed."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decisions of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after August 12 by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

$237,000 Water Improvement Plan Studied

Several Items Are Possible This Fall

Details of a $237,000 program designed to complete the modernization of Cumberland's water supply and treatment system are being studied by Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

Included are six projects which remain in the improvement project which began here five years ago.

Mr. Edwards said the remaining steps, as recommended by Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the program, include:

The mechanization of valves which operate the 12 original filter units of the plant. The motorization of the valves, which now must be turned by hand, would complete the rehabilitation of the original filter plant, since all remaining modernization of the units was completed last year. Cost is estimated at $70,000.

Pump Unit Urged

Installation of a new chlorinating station, to replace the present unit, would cost another $15,000.

A low-level pumping station, estimated to cost $37,000, is the third recommendation. This standby equipment would be used only during extended droughts, but then would enable the city to use the full storage capacity of Lake Gordon during dry spells.

Since it would enable the city to use a 50-day supply of water which will not flow into the filter plant by gravity, the pumping station would increase the safe yield of Lakes Koon and Gordon from about 14 million gallons daily to about 16 million gallons.

Present water usage is running slightly under 12 million gallons daily.

The next item, estimated to cost $5,000, is the repair of the gate chamber at Lake Gordon.

One Item $100,000

Putting the unit back in working condition should permit water to be drawn from several upper levels.

The biggest expenditure would be $100,000 for repairing the face of Lake Gordon, where concrete has been damaged by weathering.

The repair job would call for the surfacing of the dam by gunning. Under the process, a mixture of cement, sand and water would be blown upon the surface.

Minor items costing about $9,861 have also been recommended to complete the modernization of the filtration plant.

Mr. Edwards said he may recommend that one or two of the most urgent items be started this fall.

But he explained that work under way on two reservoirs in the city will cost a sizable sum.

Rehabilitation of the Fort Hill water reservoir has been awarded to the George Construction Company at a cost of $15,000, and similar repairs to the Riddedale Reservoir, being done by crews from Lake Gordon, will cost about a third of that amount, Mr. Edwards said.

$689,000 Is Spent

The City of Cumberland embarked in 1952 on a plan to modernize and enlarge the 1911 plant. To date, a total of $689,000 has been spent, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

Work to date includes the construction of a new unit housing six new filter units, boosting the capacity of the plant to 18 million gallons of water daily, the modernization of the original 12 filter units, new chemical facilities and two contact basins to ease the load on the filters.

The big mixing, flocculation, and settling basins have been undergoing final tests for several weeks.

For a number of years, and especially since the modernization program began, the City of Cumberland has been looking for additional water supplies.

Better Off Than Most

At present, the city is in better shape for water storage than most cities of comparable size, since reservoirs hold a 280-day supply.

Like Koon, the main reservoir, stores 2,330,000 gallons of water, enough to go for 179 days, and Lake Gordon has a capacity of 1,310,000 gallons for a 101-day supply.

The city has been studying the possibility of constructing a third dam on the Everts Creek watershed to hold back water which is lost during wet spells.

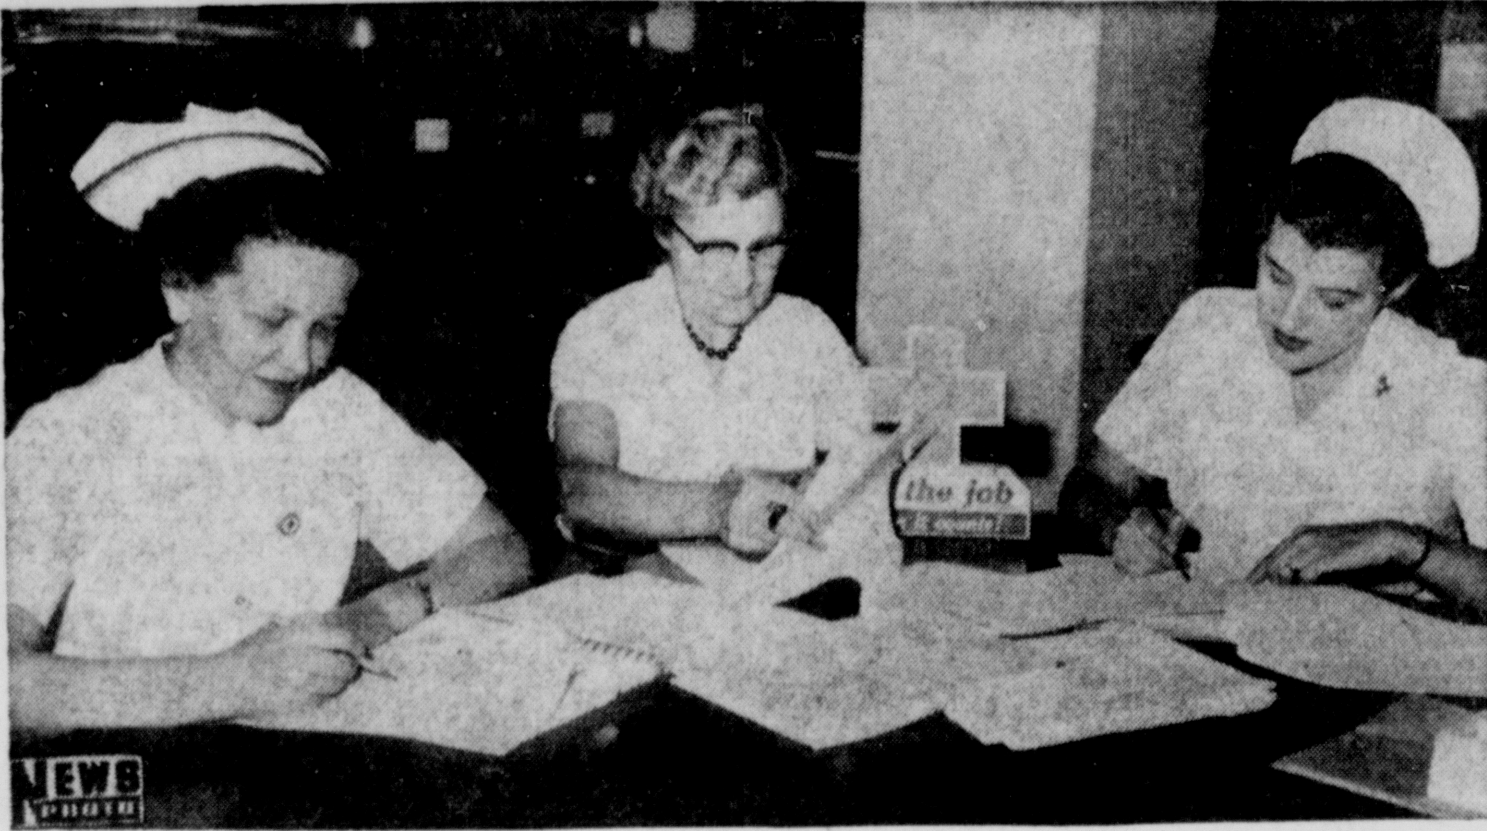

An alternate proposal is to use water from the Savage River Dam to provide a reserve for limited city supplies and to meet the water needs of Allegany County communities and of future industry.

Such a plan might become feasible if a master plan being studied by the Corps of Engineers is adopted.

Heart of the proposal to tame and even out the flow of water from the North Branch of the Potomac is a series of dams located near Bloomington, on Stony River and a second Savage River reservoir.

Local 37-B To Meet

A regular meeting of Operating Engineers Local 37-B will be held October 5 at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, according to Harry Hickie, business agent.

Plan Red Cross Nursing Program

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter has launched plans to train a large group of people in care of the sick and injured in the event they are needed to cope with the anticipated Asiatic flu epidemic or other emergency. Seated left to right are some of the leaders in the program, Mrs. Marietta C. Early, chairman of nursing services for the chapter; Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross executive; and Mrs. Regina Dowling, chairman of the enrollment committee.

Home Nursing Plan Launched By Red Cross

Epidemic Threat Spurs Activity

While the development of a plan to cope with the Asian influenza epidemic expected to sweep much of the country this fall and winter is essentially a medical and public health responsibility, the American National Red Cross, like other health and welfare agencies, has an obligation to cooperate too, Chauncey M. Sanner, local Red Cross chapter chairman said last night.

The chapter has begun plans, he observed, to expand its program of home nursing or care of the sick and injured so that a corps of trained people will be available to meet any emergency.

Mrs. George W. Legge, chapter executive, said several registered nurses working as Red Cross volunteers already have begun the task of launching this training program.

Mrs. Regina Dowling, a supervisor at Memorial Hospital, is serving as chairman of the enrollment committee. Mrs. Marietta C. Early, assistant director of nurses at Sacred Heart Hospital, is serving as chairman of the nursing services committee.

Mrs. Raymond Boore is serving as chairman of the home nursing committee. Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, is serving as vice chairman of the nursing services committee.

These volunteers have already met and begun a program to activate to the fullest extent possible the home nursing service program of the Red Cross. They plan to recruit a number of instructors and begin classes to teach the proper care of the sick and injured in all parts of the county.

Women and girls of the community — and men, if interested — are to be trained in groups. Under the program, six special themes are to be emphasized, Mrs. Legge said. These include:

(1) What to do when illness occurs. (2) How to recognize signs and symptoms of illness and how to report them to the doctor. (3) How to keep a patient clean, comfortable and well nourished. (4) How to give medicines and simple treatments ordered by the doctor. (5) How to control the spread of communicable disease. (6) How to use community health services to advantage.

The Red Cross notes that most patients with Asian flu will probably be cared for at home, so the housewife, sister, wife probably will be called upon to care for the family members who are ill.

The training program is geared to reach this type of person and all who are interested may contact the Red Cross or members of the nursing services committee for details. As classes are formed in various areas and through clubs and organizations, Mrs. Legge said, public announcement will be made so those interested can enroll. The first task is to train enough instructors to meet the need for such a broad training program, she emphasized, and nurses and others qualified are urged to volunteer to serve in this capacity.

Closing Service Set At Union Grove

The closing services of the Union Grove camp grounds will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. Louis L. Emerick and Melvin Pobinette.

The services will feature a hymn festival with congregational singing of familiar request hymns and special music by choirs of the area.

Choirs from Mapleside Methodist, Melvin, Fairview, Centerville, Centenary, Zion, Pleasant Grove and Midland have accepted invitations to the service.

The closing session of the stockholders and directors will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold health clinics today at 9:30 a. m. in Lonaconing and at 10 a. m. in Frostburg.

Phone Strike Could Affect Area Service

Telephone service in the Cumberland area could be affected by a coast-to-coast strike called Monday by CWA workers who make and install the equipment used by the Bell System.

The Communications Workers of America said the strike set for 6 a. m. will directly affect some 64,000 installation and telephone equipment manufacturing workers.

Picketing of exchanges in major cities, the union said, will keep about 200,000 workers, including operators and plant workers from their jobs.

Contracts in seven major CWA bargaining units which represent Western Electric workers, have expired.

Service in this area would be affected if Western Electric workers, now engaged in making installations in this area, picketed the Cumberland central office, as CWA workers have had traditionally observed all legitimate picket lines.

Local 2109, CWA, which represents plant and commercial workers of the C&P Telephone Company in Allegany and Garrett counties, is not involved in the contract dispute.

Michael L. Lindner 2109 president, said negotiators for the Maryland CWA and the C&P Telephone Company of Maryland will meet September 25 in Baltimore to begin contract negotiations.

The union, he said, will present its proposals at the meeting for a new contract to replace a pact which is due to expire October 30.

Scouters Plan Annual Trip To Washington

Plans are being formulated by the Tri-Towns Senior Scout Council for its annual trip next month to Washington, D. C.

The excursion is open to all Explorer Scouts and Senior Girl Scouts registered in Potomac Council and the leaders and advisors connected with that council.

The group will depart on Friday, October 18 from the Methodist Church in Piedmont, W. Va. Special arrangements will be made for groups to join the caravan along the route. They will return Sunday, October 20.

The delegation from Potomac Council will travel by bus, and their baggage by truck. A registered nurse will accompany each bus.

Cost of the three-day trip is $12, with $2 to be paid when the application form has been filled out and returned, not later than October 14. These forms should be returned to the troop leaders or Alton Fortney, Luke. About 100 reservations will be accepted.

Part of the tentative plans for the itinerary includes seeing Cinerama on Friday and a party at the Islamic Center in Washington.

On Saturday they will travel to Baltimore, where they will visit the harbor, Fort McHenry and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Museum. On the return trip to Washington, the group will stop at the University of Maryland for supper and a swimming party.

Catholic and Protestant services will be attended in Washington Sunday morning before the contingent begins the trip home.

AA Marks Tenth Anniversary Here

Cumberland Chapter Alcoholics Anonymous will observe its tenth anniversary with a dinner for members and guests at 6:30 p. m. Saturday in St. Mary's Recreation Hall, Oldtown Road.

The dinner will be followed by a meeting at 8 o'clock to which the public is invited. There will be speakers from Youngstown, Ohio, and other guests from near-by Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia communities.

District Meet Slated By 'Y' On Saturday

Dr. Lawrence Alpin To Be Speaker

Central YMCA will be host to the annual District 2 meeting which will be held Saturday beginning at 10:30 a. m.

B. U. Smith, general secretary of Central YMCA and secretary of the district, said last night the unit is comprised of branches of Hagerstown, Frederick, Anne Arundel County and Washington, D. C.

An invitation has been extended to the B&O YMCA here and in Brunswick.

"Buildings For Brotherhood" is the theme of the meeting which will be presided over by Harold D. Barber, district president.

The building program now underway as well as future building of the YMCA abroad will be discussed.

The main speaker will be Dr. Lawrence Alpin, with headquarters in New York City, a member of the International Committee. He will relate the program to some 50 persons of the district who are expected to attend.

A film, "Si Seymour Speaks," an international story, will be shown. Representatives of the Central Atlantic Area who are expected to attend include Roy Cotton and Sid File, with offices in Newark, N. J.

Meetings, Tour Planned

Mr. Smith said the meeting will begin with registration and "coffee break" at 10:30 a. m. in the lobby of Central YMCA. Sessions, including a business meeting about noon, will continue through the day until 3:30 p. m. At that time, visitors will take a tour of the building, conducted by members of the local staff.

Two years ago Mr. Smith was secretary of Anne Arundel branches.

The Central Atlantic Area includes Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, New Jersey and Puerto Rico. Next year's district meeting is scheduled for Frederick.

Last year the meeting was held in Hagerstown.

VFW Launches Campaign For Multiple Sclerosis

Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary, will participate with other Maryland VFW posts and units in a drive to raise funds for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The Maryland Department VFW has endorsed and pledged its support to the annual fund raising campaign and the local and other area posts have been asked to sponsor local fund solicitations.

George Speis, Fayette Street, is general chairman for Cumberland, while Mrs. Raymond Reynolds, Maryland Avenue, is chairman for the auxiliary. Mrs. Reynolds, state president of the VFW Auxiliary, spent several days in Baltimore last week helping to organize the state-wide effort, and has contacted all auxiliary units in the state urging their help.

Mr. Speis said coin canisters where volunteer gifts can be deposited are being distributed in business places in the area, and several other fund-raising projects are being planned.

Mrs. Reynolds said the Multiple Sclerosis Society is sponsoring a house-to-house march on

Boy Nabbed After Wave Of Thefts

Police last night arrested a local 14-year-old boy they said "was having himself a ball" entering homes yesterday evening and taking purses and money.

About 5:52 p. m. an Independence Street woman notified police that while she was away from home a boy entered her house, demanded money from an invalid aunt, then browsed through the house.

A second complaint was received at 6:15 p. m. when a North Lee Street woman said a boy was at her house demanding money. She said he broke through the screen door and took her change purse which contained a couple of dollars. She described the boy to police.

About 6:37 p. m. a third call was received and police were notified by a Greene Street resident that a boy had entered her apartment to take her purse, which contained between $12 and $15, identification cards and personal belongings.

Meanwhile, city police located the boy at the end of the temporary bridge on Greene Street and took him into custody, recovering the money. The boy took police to an area near Prospect Square where they located the pocket-book.

Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney said the boy will be taken to the state's attorney's office this morning for questioning.

Central Checks Auto Fire Here

A carbon dioxide extinguisher was used by Central firemen last evening when a car caught on fire near the A&P Supermarket on Wincove Street.

The flames were confined to the motor of the car and damage was done to the wiring. The call was received at 6:55 p. m.

LaVale volunteer firemen received a call concerning a car on fire in front of Hauger's Market, but by the time they arrived the fire was out and the car was gone.

They got the call second-hand through Central fire station here. A service station employee called the local firemen, who in turn notified LaVale about 7:30 p. m.

Youth Wounded On Hunting Trip

Roy Malow, 14, of Cabins, W. Va., is reported improved at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted on Tuesday with a .22 calibre bullet in his right shoulder.

He was reported to have been accidentally wounded while on a groundhog hunting trip with a companion. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Malow. When admitted to the hospital his condition was listed as "fair."

Mahoney, 'God Willing,' Will Run In '58

To Campaign 5th Time In 8 Years

By LOUIS PANOS
BALTIMORE, Sept. 11 (AP) — George P. Mahoney said today he will—"God willing"—be a candidate for a Maryland statewide office next year and close associates interpreted this as a move toward the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mahoney himself refused to specify whether he will seek that spot or the senatorial nomination. He has run for each twice in the last seven years.

"I am giving as much consideration to one as to the other," he said.

But in the next breath, and many thereafter, the Baltimore County paving contractor left little doubt he was aiming for the governorship.

He's Still Interested

He recalled that in previous campaigns for the post, in 1950 and 1954, he has emphasized his interest in and qualifications for administering mental health programs, road plans and other state work.

He still has that interest and still considers himself qualified, he said.

Mahoney's injection of himself into the 1958 political picture came in an interview. He returned Saturday after a four-week stay at Hot Springs, Ark.

He noted again that he had polled 406,000 in his unsuccessful Senate bid against Republican J. Glenn Beall in 1952 and 420,000 against Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler last year. Both totals were new records for Maryland Democratic candidates, and Mahoney insists he would have been elected if he had not been running in an Eisenhower presidential election year.

Won't Have To Face Ike

"Eisenhower won't be running next year," he said, "so I should be all right."

Mahoney, who unsuccessfully sought the gubernatorial nomination in 1950 and 1954, denied again reports that he and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes had entered an agreement not to run against each other in 1958. The reports began circulating in 1956, when Tawes backed him for the Senate.

Tawes himself has formally entered the race for next year's gubernatorial nomination.

H. C. Byrd, former University of Maryland president who won the 1954 nomination for governor, also has filed for another try.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore has been mentioned as another possible candidate.

Farm Gas Tax Refund Deadline Is September 30

Area farmers are reminded that September 30 is the last day for submitting claims for the federal gasoline tax refund.

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said this refund is based on the number of gallons of gasoline used on the farm for non-highway purposes.

Fuel used for food processing or personal purposes is not eligible for refunds, he added. Claims are made on Internal Revenue Service form 2240.

This form has been mailed to all farmers who filed a claim in 1956. Additional copies are available at Mr. Steger's office at the Court House, or at Internal Revenue offices.

This simple report is for all gasoline used on the farm for the 12-month period from July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957.

Lunch Room Permit Issued

A Green Spring, W. Va., man is planning to construct a lunch room and ice cream bar near the intersection of the Six-Mile House and Winchester Road at an estimated cost of $10,000.

Hugh Kifer was issued a building permit yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Assessing Department in the Court House.

The building, according to Mr. Kifer, will measure about 50 feet by 70 feet, will have a concrete block foundation and concrete block walls.

The structure will have an asphalt roof. In another permit issued by the department, DuBois W. Giles is planning to construct a dwelling on Maryland Street, Braddock Farms at an estimated cost of $10,000.

The 24 foot by 40 foot dwelling will have brick veneer walls and a concrete foundation. The building will have a composition shingle roof and a full cellar.

Court House, Offices Will Be Closed Today

Offices of Trial Magistrate Court and Juvenile Court in the County Building on Union Street will be closed today because of the legal holiday, Old Defender's Day.

The Court House also will be closed in observance of the holiday.

Local banking institutions will remain open. Various state offices will be closed.

FRANK ROBERTS

Art Teacher Named At Bruce High

The one remaining vacant teaching position in Allegany County public high schools has been filled.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, said yesterday that Frank Roberts, of 118 Washington Street, Westport, has accepted the position of art instructor at the new Bruce High School in that community.

This position was the only vacancy which existed at the outset of the school term last week when some 35 of 36 vacancies had been filled.

Mr. Roberts graduated from Bruce High School in 1943 and received his bachelor of science degree at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., in 1949.

He attended Parsons School of Design in New York City from September 1949 until April 1951. Mr. Roberts entered Holy Cross under the V12 Navy Training program in 1943 and finished his college work there in 1949.

In 1945 he went to the Midshipman's Training School at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and later attended the Navy Line School in Florida where he finished his training with the rank of ensign.

He was recalled to Navy duty in 1952 and was discharged in 1954. While in the Navy he taught navigation, air control and surface tactics.

Paper Mill Seeks Water From River

A public hearing is scheduled for 11 a. m. today in Baltimore by the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources on an application of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company to use two million gallons of water daily from the Savage River near its confluence with the north branch of the Potomac River.

John A. Luke, manager of the Luke mill, sent a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to remind them of the hearing. The letter was read at Tuesday's meeting of the board.

The hearing will be conducted in Room 102 of Latrobe Hall at Johns Hopkins University.

The pulp mill wants the water for boiler feedwater and also is applying for permission to construct a pipeline for transportation of the water.

Willis V. Smith, scout executive for Potomac Council No. 757, Boy Scouts of America, wrote the commissioners that he has been attending the Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency, which ended yesterday at the University of Maryland and will be happy to serve on an Allegany County committee to implement the conference findings.

Another letter explained that Mrs. Richard Reid, president of Fort Cumberland Unit 13, American Legion Auxiliary, also was planning to attend the same conference. The letter was from Mrs. Harry L. Vogel, secretary.

County Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson reported that a Mr. Ruppert would like weeds cut along Rocky Gap Road and the road graded. The commissioner also requested "No Dumping" signs along the Chaneyville Road.
